

Sasyk considering retirement from the mayor's post

MAYOR MIKE SASYK

By SUSAN SIGNAIG-WEICH of the Press-Record
Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk has confirmed rumors that he is considering retiring from his office. Sasyk said, although he does not want to comment on his deliberations, he is "considering retiring" and will be making an official statement "within the next 30 days."

RUMORS STARTED circulating after Madison Alderman Tom Gordon told residents last weekend that he was thinking of running as a mayoral candidate. Alderman Christ Costoff said Gordon had approached him over the weekend and asked Costoff if he would support Gordon in the election next year.

"He asked me if I was going to back him, but I told him that I wouldn't because I was for my banker (John Bellecoff)," said Costoff, immediate past chairman of the Madison County Democratic Central Committee. "I'm for John and I think the whole city is behind him," he said.

COSTOFF SAID that Sasyk has been trying to get Gordon to consider running for mayor "for a couple of months now." Costoff said Gordon had declined to accept the candidacy until now.

Gordon said he is not officially announcing his candidacy at this time but he is giving it "serious consideration."

Gordon disagrees with Costoff's statement that he tried to get Costoff's support. "I talked to Christ this weekend, but I did not solicit his support," he said.

"THE ELECTION is still a year away and whether or not I run depends a great deal on whether or not Mayor Sasyk runs again," said Gordon. "If Mayor Sasyk decides to run again, I'm sure he'll get the nod from the city organization."

Gordon said if Sasyk does run again, he (Gordon) will not run against him.

Sasyk declined comment on whether or not he intends to finish out his term as mayor, or whether he will retire early and appoint Gordon or someone as mayor until the next election. "I'd really have to say no comment on everything else," he said. "I'll answer all of your questions when I make my official statement."

SASYK, 62, HAS been the mayor of Madison since 1970, when a special election was conducted to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Stephen Maeras. Maeras had served as mayor of Madison since it's incorporation as a city in 1942.

He was elected to his first full term in 1973 and was re-elected in 1977 and 1981.

Sasyk, a lifelong resident of Madison, was educated in Madison schools and is a member of St.

Mary's Catholic Church.

BEFORE TAKING office, Sasyk was involved in real estate development and was the developer of the Arlington Heights subdivision. He also was a justice of the peace from 1948 to 1952.

Sasyk is a World War II veteran, having served most of his five years overseas, where he saw action in New Guinea and the Philippines. He was given a battlefield promotion to the rank of first lieutenant.

Sasyk is a member of several clubs, including the Lions Club, Rotary Club, American Legion, Amvets, the Elks Lodge, the Disabled American Veterans and the City Organization.

Weber indicted

After months of study, a special grand jury studying allegations against Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber surprised many yesterday afternoon by returning two indictments against the prosecutor.

Weber, 35, the county's only elected Republican office holder was indicted on two counts of official misconduct for allegedly using his office to attempt to manipulate another special grand jury investigating assessment irregularities in the county.

THE GRAND jury investigating Weber, however, refused to issue indictments on the original allegations the jury was formed to study—allegations made by Belleville attorney Amiel Cueto that Weber had pressed rape charges against a man he knew was innocent and that Weber had run his office and his personal life in an unsuitable way. Weber has filed a $31 million libel suit against Cueto for making the charges.

DON WEBER
Indicted yesterday

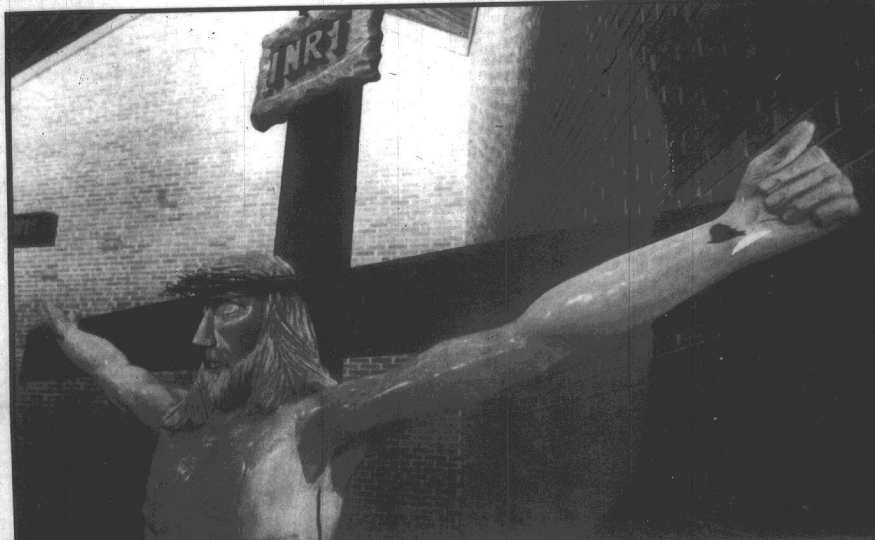

After the indictments against Weber were issued yesterday afternoon and were signed by Circuit Judge Horace L. Calvo, Weber appeared in court before Calvo, who set the prosecutor's bond at $10,000 on each count and released Weber on his own recognizance, which does not require that the bond be posted.

Paul C. Verticchio, the special prosecutor appointed to lead the grand jury investigating Weber, was present when Weber appeared before Judge Calvo. Later, Verticchio said the indictments put an end to the investigation of Weber and there will be no further grand jury actions against him. Verticchio said he does not know if he will conduct the prosecution against Weber in court.

THE INDICTMENTS allege that Weber tried to force former Assistant State's Attorney Keith Jensen to obtain indictments just before the primary election against "certain persons" from the grand jury investigating assessments in the county. Jensen—who subsequently resigned from Weber's staff and was appointed a special prosecutor on the assessment issue—signed an affidavit that Weber ordered Jensen on March 7 to return indictments in the assessment issue March 14, six days before the primary election, in which Weber had opposition for the GOP nomination for re-election.

Later, Jensen said, Weber was convinced to change the date because indictments at that time might seem too political. Then Weber told Jensen on March 12 to have the assessment grand jury return indictments March 28, the date on which the special grand jury studying charges against Weber to Chief Criminal Judge Philip J. Harick, who appointed Jensen a special prosecutor and barred

Easter observances planned in area

Traditionally, sunrise services and Easter egg hunts are conducted on Easter morning throughout the country. Locally, there will be three traditional religious services that are conducted each year at separate locations and several egg hunts including two open to the public.

Sponsored by the Lutheran Bureau is a Easter sunrise service from 6 to 6:30 a.m. Sunday at the ice rink in Wilson Park, under the auspices of Concordia Lutheran, Hope Lutheran and St. John Lutheran Churches.

THE REV. David W. Raetz, pastor of Concordia Lutheran, will be the speaker with Rev. Samuel Bada of St. John Lutheran leading the congregation in worship.

A brass instrument ensemble will provide the fanfare and familiar hymns for the non-sectarian service. Following the religious observance, donuts, rolls and coffee will be served in the lobby of the park facility. Lake View Memorial Gardens, located on Highway 159 north of Fairview Heights (5000 N. Illinois) will be the scene of early morning Easter services from 6 to 6:45.

THE CHURCHES of Fairview Heights are extending an invitation to the public to attend the 22nd annual Easter observance in the natural outdoor setting at Lake View Memorial Gardens. It has been the practice to draw from the Fairview Heights clergy in order to select a different pastor to provide the Easter message each year.

Taking part in the service this year will be Dr. Harold Paul of St. John United Church of Christ, the Rev. William Rensing of Our Lady of Assumption parish, and the Rev. Bill Fox of Lake View Baptist Church, who will preach the sermon on "Our Wonderful Jesus."

Services at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows, 9500 West Route 15, Belleville, will begin at 6:45 a.m. Easter Sunday to be conducted by the Rev. Ron Brassard. A brunch is planned for 7:30 a.m. following the service.

SEVERAL Easter egg hunts are planned for Quad-City youngsters on Saturday with one, sponsored by the Granite City Park District, to feature a visit from the Easter Bunny, an added attraction this year.

The park will have approximately 2,500 colored plastic eggs hidden in straw on the floor of the ice rink for children to discover. Each egg will be filled with jelly beans.

There will be three age groups and prizes will be awarded in each category. Winners must be residents of the Granite City Park District and children taking part in the annual event are to bring their own containers.

HOURS FOR the "hunt" are designated as follows: 9 a.m. for first graders; 9:45 a.m. for kindergarten children and 10:30 a.m. for preschoolers. The Pontoon Beach Lionsess Club will sponsor an Easter egg hunt at noon Saturday, April 21, for the residents of Pontoon Beach.

There will be 1,000 brightly colored plastic eggs filled with candy hidden on the field of the Central Baptist Church, Highway 111 and Lily Ave. A VISIT from the Easter bunny will highlight of the event. Prizes will be awarded in four age groups: 1 to 2, 3 to 4, 5 to 6 and 7 to 8, to the child collecting the most eggs.

Each child attending must be accompanied by an adult and bring a container to collect the eggs.

In the event of inclement weather, the hunt will be in the Pontoon Beach Senior Citizen's Center, across the street from the church.

Boundaries Ok'd for $20 million downtown project

By GEORGEANN MCGEE of the Press-Record

As Granite City aldermen sat in the shadows Tuesday, slides were flashed on the wall of the township hall showing grand plans for the development of the city's deteriorating downtown area. Design boards detailing the approximately $20 million proposed improvement project lined the foot of the township stage. When the show was completed, 13 aldermen in attendance tentatively accepted the most recent effort to stop the downhill slide of the aging downtown area.

THE redevelopment concept involves a 42-block area and pivots on a main attraction motel-shopping center complex, smaller shops and offices, and a light industrial area.

Both the city hall and township building lie within the proposed renovation district that the firm of Peckham, Guyton, Albers & Viets, Inc., St. Louis, recommends be rehabilitated privately, and publicly be given a push with the formation of a tax increment financing district.

Egg hunt Saturday at Wilson Park

The Granite City Park District's Annual Easter Egg Hunt will be Saturday morning, April 21, at the Wilson Park Ice Rink.

The colored plastic eggs filled with jelly beans will be hidden in straw that is strewn about the floor of the ice rink. The park will have approximately 2,500 eggs that will be divided among the three age groups. There will be prizes in each group and all children must bring their own containers for the eggs they will find during the hunt. Winners must be residents of the Granite City Park District.

AN ADDED special attraction for the children, as well as their parents who have never seen the Easter Bunny, will be a chance to meet the Easter Bunny in person.

The times for the various groups to report to the Ice Rink are: 9 a.m., first graders; 9:45 a.m., kindergarten children, and 10:30 a.m., preschoolers.

Myracle is named plant supervisor

Donald L. Myracle of Granite City has been named plant superintendent at the Owens-Illinois Corrugated Box Plant in Mt. Olive. Myracle's 27 years of service with Owens-Illinois include various positions in the production and sales service departments at the company's former Madison plant and the customer service department at the Mt. Olive plant.

EMT Mark Eavenson moves from fire to police post

Mark J. Eavenson, a paramedic for the Granite City Fire Department for five years, has been hired as a probationary police officer. The appointment was effective Monday.

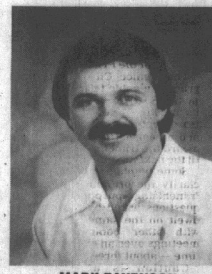

Eavenson had been ranked first among recent candidates who took qualifying tests for placement on the department's hiring list.

He fills the vacancy left by the resignation of Patrolman Robert Knezevich, who began his career with the police department in May 1977.

Eavenson, a senior nursing student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, was nominated one of the Outstanding Young Men of America last January by SUE for the annual Jaycee award.

He is a past president of the Emergency Medical Technicians' Relief and Welfare Organization, which assists St. Elizabeth Medical Center, senior citizens, low-income residents and others in need.

Eavenson is a 1975 graduate of Granite City High School South. As a senior in high school, he was vice president of his class and editor of

Motorcycle safety awareness days

Governor James R. Thompson has designated April 19-20 as Motorcycle Awareness Days in Illinois. He urged that all motorists share the road-way with motorcyclists and be especially alert during the spring season, which brings increased motorcycle traffic to streets and highways.

TWO CAR CRASH. The car accident pictured above occurred in the 1000 block of Madison Avenue in Madison on Monday evening. The crash resulted in injuries to Neal Mize, 19, of 209 Granville St., Venice, a passenger in a vehicle driven by Carol Scaturro, 19, of 1305 Robin St. The driver of the other car, Delbert Whaley, 30, of Greenville, Ill., was charged by Madison police with failure to yield the right-of-way. Miss Scaturro's vehicle was northbound on Madison Avenue and Whaley was crossing the northbound lanes of Madison Avenue when the two collided. (Press-Record Photo)

Venice City Council nears agreement with South-Western

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

The Venice City Council almost granted a cable television franchise to South-Western Cable TV, Ltd., at its meeting Tuesday night. It was close, but not quite close enough, and a decision on whether or not to award the franchise was delayed until the next meeting.

Some points are to be changed to clarify the ordinance prepared for franchising purposes, but many questions asked by some aldermen dwelt on the same issues explored with other companies at other meetings over an extended period of time — about three years.

Caution is understandable, however, as the Venice city fathers have been burned before on the cable television issue. In fact, more than once.

Walter Payne, director of acquisitions for First Carolina Communications, Inc., of Rocky Mount, N.C., reviewed the proposal with council members. He was accompanied by South-Western Cable TV's new general manager, Len Carruth, and Mary Hildebrand, director of marketing.

One of the principal points explored was availability to Venice subscribers of the 21-channel basic service for a monthly charge of $8. Among the channels the basic rate includes are ESPN (sports), MTV (rock music channel), CNN (cable news), all functioning 24-hours a day, plus WTBS-Atlanta, WGN-Chicago and continuous weather news.

The fee is the same rate paid by cable TV subscribers in Granite City, Pontoon Beach and other area communities.

The period of time needed to bring cable service to Venice also was a point of contention.

Payne estimated a maximum of eight months will be required to complete the installation, although admitting cable service could be made available at an earlier date.

He noted that agreements with utility companies for pole attachments must be signed before the construction phase is started, with a 240-day limitation after pole permits are obtained.

A revision agreed to by the cable service operators focused on a paragraph which linked rate increases in Venice to fees authorized in the Granite City area. The change will provide for approval by the Venice City Council of all rate increases.

Also to be amended is the cost of installation during the first 30-day period after service is available. The fee will be $7.50 per residence, half of the amount listed in the ordinance for subscribers when the initial installation period ends. A special rate is under consideration for senior residents.

Under the proposed franchise agreement, the monthly fee to subscribers having the basic service (21 to 24 channels), plus Home Box Office (a movie and special features channel) will be $18.75.

Those wishing to subscribe to HBO and Showtime (also a movie channel) with their basic service would pay a total of $25.25 per month, Payne explained.

Three new pay channels now available to South-Western Cable TV subscribers are Showtime, The Disney Channel and Sports Time, the representative said.

The city of Venice would receive three percent of all gross subscriber revenue and a $15,000 performance bond will be posted by the firm, it was noted.

Venice dissolved its franchise agreement with Sun Cable Systems of the CATV Systems and Associates of Tallahassee, Fla., at the Feb. 21 council meeting.

That firm was granted the franchise last July 26. The revocation action was taken when repeated efforts to contact some of the company officials to determine the project's status proved fruitless after work on the cable installation apparently was abandoned.

The proposed franchise with South-Western provides that the event utility wires go underground in the future, the cable system also will be reinstalled underground, and that public and parochial schools and public buildings will receive cable installation hookups without charge.

REPORTS BEING STRUCK

Carol M. Brooks, 1122 Douglas Ave., Venice, went to police headquarters last week and reported that while she was sitting in a parked car on Weaver Street with two friends, a former friend got into the vehicle started arguing and struck her face with his fists.

The man, a Madison resident, then poured beer on Miss Brooks and hit her left eye with a bottle, she alleged.

Police said the victim suffered a laceration above her left eye and swelling to her right cheek. She was taken by an officer to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment.

News notes

The Illinois-American, Alton and Peoria water companies are seeking Illinois Commerce Commission permission to merge, to aid in attracting capital to improve and expand present water systems. All are subsidiaries of the American Waterworks System.

John Denver, Glen Campbell and Helen Reddy will entertain at the 1984 Fourth of July fair on the St. Louis riverfront.

The Alton lock and dam are being replaced at a cost below estimates, and this may aid efforts to gain funding for a second new lock, Sen. Charles H. Percy said at the site Monday.

The Madison County Board on Wednesday banned X-rated movies on cable television. In another matter, the board agreed to its negotiators' recommendation to ask for help from federal mediators in resolving a dispute with sheriff deputies over who will pay for increased medical-hospital insurance cost.

Awaiting possible extradition to Madison County in a child custody disagreement, Gregory Homyer, 32, a former local deputy sheriff, was held in Las Vegas custody without bond this week. A hearing is set for Monday on his appeal of an extradition order signed by the Nevada governor. It is alleged he took his four-year-old daughter to Las Vegas in October 1983 against her mother's wishes. Madison County Associate Judge Charles V. Roman Jr. has ordered him to serve a six-month jail term for contempt of court.

Venice to consider hiring officers or granting raise

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

Some guarded comments about hiring a new police officer in Venice were offered by Mayor Tyrone Echols at the Venice City Council meeting Tuesday night, after a letter of resignation from Officer Timothy Simmons was accepted by the aldermen.

Simmons, a veteran of nearly 10 years with the department, is the second officer to resign from the Venice force within the past two weeks.

RONALD BRAWLEY, who has been a Venice police officer 4½ years, handed in his resignation April 3. Both Simmons and Brawley since have been hired as adult probation officers for Madison County.

Stressing that he is only "considering the idea," he is planning to discuss it further with Chief of Police Farris Smith. Mayor Echols speculated on the possibility of not replacing both officers.

"If we could get by with only one officer, we could possibly consider some type of raise for city employees."

"BEFORE WE decide anything, we will be doing an in-depth study into this. But it looks like it's now or maybe never that we can do it (give raises)," the mayor commented.

"I know there's been some squabbling, but the men have been relatively patient," he said. Venice police department employees have not received pay raises for about seven years, according to two veteran officers.

"I will be getting together with the police commissioners and going over the eligibility list," he said later in the meeting.

MAJOR ECHOLS also mentioned a new program through which a community may be reimbursed for half the salary of a new police officer over a six-month period.

He did not elaborate on the program, nor name the agency, but said any candidate selected must meet specific qualifications to become eligible for reimbursement. He will discuss the proposal further when more details are available, the mayor advised the aldermen.

Fourteen persons took the Venice police examination for the position of probationary patrolman on March 30 and five passed the test and were placed on an eligibility list. It was reported at the council's last session. The names of the successful candidates were not disclosed.

A LETTER will be sent to the Bissell Street Apartments' management, concerning an apparent lack of fire hydrants within the apartment complex.

The matter was brought to the attention of the council by Fourth Ward Alderman Victor Valentine Sr., who said the nearest hydrants are located on Bissell Avenue at Mercedia and Weaver avenues.

Street Superintendent Tom Scaturro noted the area in question is private property and responsibility therefore lies with the apartment's management to install hydrants inside the project boundaries.

MAYOR ECHOLS announced the South Western Illinois Council of Mayors will meet Wednesday, April 25, at Charlie's Restaurant, 3120 Nameoki Road, with Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler as host.

Deadline for dinner reservations, costing $14 per person, is April 23. A get-acquainted hour will start at 6 p.m., followed by dinner at 7 o'clock.

Ham it up for Easter

By JANET BURNETT
Madison County Home Economist

Easter is a time for celebrating, and ham is one of the most festive Easter-time foods. There's a different kind of ham for every taste — and one is right for your family.

The best guide to ham identification is the label. The label can also serve as a cooking guide.

Those "fully cooked" hams have been completely cooked during processing and need no further cooking to be safe. They can be eaten right out of the package.

If you warm this type of ham before serving, it should be heated to an internal temperature of 130 to 140 degrees Fahrenheit for best flavor and palatability.

"Cook before eating" on the label indicates the ham was not fully cooked during processing and should be cooked to an internal temperature of 160 degrees F before serving. If neither term appears on the label, assume the ham must be cooked before eating.

The term "water added" may also appear on the label. Most processed hams are pumped with a salt-and-water curing solution and then smoked.

If enough moisture does not evaporate during smoking to return the ham to its original fresh weight, it is labeled "water added."

These hams may contain up to 10 percent added moisture; hams with more than 10 percent water must be labeled "imitation."

The basic styles of ham are bone-in, semi-boneless, boneless and canned. Bone-in hams are sold as whole hams, shank and rump halves, and center slices. Portion are halves with the center slices removed. Semi-boneless hams have only the round leg bone or shank bone.

Boneless hams, on the other hand, have all bones removed and most of the external and internal fat trimmed away. The lean meat may be rolled, shaped or formed.

Canned hams are boneless-cured ham sections that have been placed in cans, vacuum sealed, and then fully cooked. A small amount of unflavored dry gelatin may be added before sealing to absorb the natural juices as the ham cooks. Canned hams are produced in a variety of sizes.

Also available are many types of hams, often called specialty hams. Country and country-style hams are dry-cured with salt, then smoked and aged to give them a distinctive flavor and delicate texture.

These hams require soaking and precooking in liquid before baking. The difference between the two is that "country ham" is produced in a rural area and "country-style ham" is produced elsewhere.

Smithfield hams, processed in Smithfield, Ala., are hand-rubbed with salt, dry-cured in the salt, smoked and dried. Because of their dryness and saltiness, these hams require extensive soaking and simmering in liquid. Ham cured elsewhere by this process must be labeled "Smithfield-style ham" and indicate place of processing.

Scotch hams are uncured, boneless, mildly-cured hams sold in casings. The process for these hams originated in Scotland.

Prosciutto hams are Italian-type, ready-to-eat, highly-seasoned, dry hams. They are usually very thinly sliced and sold at deli counters or in small packages.

Madison charges driver with DUI

Learning that a vehicle had struck a utility pole, shearing it off at ground level, and left the scene this week, police said they searched the area and found Jessie D. Evans, 45, of 2208 Ohio Ave. seated in a damaged car, halted in the street, in the 2900 block of Ohio Avenue.

The accident occurred a few minutes earlier when an auto heading south entered a driveway at 2113 Missouri Av., jumped a curb and struck a light post. The car continued into the driveway and front yard at 2109 Missouri before departing.

Evans was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and leaving the scene of an accident with property damage. He was released on $102 cash bail.

LICENSE PLATES TAKEN

Kernell McCoud, of St. Louis, told Venice Police Monday night, that someone took the license plates from his car. The automobile had been left at Route 3 and Broadway.

RELEASED ON CASH BAIL

Initially cited for traveling the wrong way on a one-way street in the 2500 block of Cleveland Blvd. at 2:30 a.m. Tuesday, Henry L. Brown, 37, of 4015 Melrose Ave. was then booked on a warrant alleging failure to appear on an allegation of battery. He was released two hours later after posting $502 cash bail.

BURGLAR TAKES CHAINS

James Costello, 1600 Clark Ave., found a door at his residence standing open at 8:25 p.m. Monday. The knob had been twisted off and two desks inside the dwelling had been ransacked. Immediately determined to be missing were two gold chains. Other items in the home are being inventoried.

City to accept applications for free house painting for needy

Granite City will be offering its free house painting program to senior citizens and low-income homeowners for the fifth year.

Applications for the project, called the "Mayor's Paint Program," will be taken by the city and township, beginning May 1 and ending June 29.

The project is being coordinated by Mayor Paul Schuler and is supported by funds from the Madison County Community Development Office.

Applications and guidelines may be picked up and filled out at two locations: the Granite City Township Building, 2000 Delmar Ave., and the office of Mayor Paul Schuler, City Hall, 2000 Edison Ave. Both offices will be open Monday through Friday during normal working hours.

The paint program will run for a two-month period only. It will be limited to scraping, cleaning, and painting with white, grey or black paints the exterior of each approved residence. The work will be carried out by Granite City youth supervised by the painters' union. Easter weekend is the deadline for youths to apply for those jobs.

Residents' needs will establish the priority list for painting the homes. The primary concern of the program specifically involves senior citizens and low- to moderate-income families, who can substantiate income levels and residency requirements to meet necessary standards, which are set down by the Madison County Community Development Office and by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. These standards will be strictly enforced, according to a program spokesman.

The application procedures will be supervised by Toby Worthen, secretary to the mayor. She emphasized that those applying must submit proof of income and ownership of their home. Psychiatric, benefit payments and Social Security checks may be shown as verification of income. The deed of the house or property tax receipts can be used to prove ownership.

She advises senior citizens to bring in their May Social Security checks, or they will have to wait until their June checks arrive to show their income levels.

Income standards to be eligible are: one person, $13,450; two persons, $17,650; three persons, $19,850; four persons, $22,100; five persons, $23,450; six persons, $24,850; seven persons, $26,200; and eight persons, $27,600.

Those wishing further information should call 432-6214.

Shorter study of zoning law may answer problems

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

David Morgan, chairman of the Granite City Planning Commission, said a shortage of funds will preclude an in-depth review of the city's Zoning Ordinance.

A less expensive, shorter study may be made, instead, of several zoning problems in the two-year-old law. The most immediate problems concern the proper zoning for used car lots, automobile body shops and car repair garages.

Other difficulties include the current makeup of the central business-commercial district zone, dissimilar zoning listings of similar business types and new business types not listed.

Morgan said the abbreviated review to be conducted by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission will first have to meet the approval of the city's zoning committee.

Edward R. Crow, SIMAPC program manager, had suggested, after meeting with commissioners, that his agency conduct a 48-hour study of the zoning ordinance for $1,000. He also had proposed a SIMAPC staff member meet with the Planning Commission meetings to serve in an advisory capacity for an estimated yearly fee of $5,000.

While the city apparently lacks the money for the more complete study, Morgan said he will recommend a SIMAPC staff member meet with the commissioners for about an hour and then study the ordinance for another three hours, prior to giving the city zoning suggestions.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer said the problems with the relatively new zoning law are to be expected and does not indicate it was a badly written law. "I don't think any ordinance has ever been worked on Brewer said. In other zoning business, commissioners discussed two annexation requests. Commissioners will recommend the Granite City Council accept into the city the residence at Johnson Road and Clark Avenue of David McFarland, a member of the city board which monitors heating and air conditioning.

CITY ENGINEER Monroe Brewer said residency in the city is not required for membership on the board. The commissioners voted to delay until their next meeting a request by E.G. Steele Development Co., Inc., 1318 Niedringhaus Ave., for the city to annex six lots on Carlgill Road. Steele has requested an R-5 multifamily zoning. The area proposed is 2.35 acres in Stratford Place Subdivision.

Morgan said commissioners are hesitant to bring the undeveloped property into the city with an R-5 zoning, since the property could hypothetically be sold and used for any R-5 purpose. Sixth Ward aldermen objected two years ago when apartments for subsidized housing were constructed on property they thought would be developed into expensive homes and a shopping center.

COMMISSIONERS have requested a representative from the Steele firm to be present at the next Planning Commission meeting to explain the zoning request. After the meeting was adjourned, commissioners praised the work of City Engineer Brewer, who will leave May 1 for a position as director of maintenance at Washington University.

Brewer said he always felt "pretty good about my relationship with the Plan Commission." He called the association one of the brighter spots in his career with the city.

"We'll be losing a good one," one commissioner commented and others agreed.

Pursuit results in DUI, other charges

Mark Roland Summers, 27, of 2823 North St., was charged by Madison police with driving under the influence of alcohol, attempting to elude a police officer and reckless driving after a chase that ended in an accident near the 16th Street gate at Granite City Steel at 5:55 a.m. Sunday.

Madison Officer Gary Marsala alleged clocking Summers' vehicle on radar in the 400 block of Madison Avenue and pursuing the driver to the 1500 block, where Summers apparently lost control of the vehicle while rounding the curve.

The auto crossed the center line into the southbound lanes, returned into the northbound lanes and ran off the east side of Madison Avenue before striking a pole.

The impact sheared off the telephone pole, which came down on top of the car, reports said. A chain-link fence belonging to Granite City Steel also was damaged, it was alleged.

Summers apparently was not injured and agreed to take a breathalyzer test, which was administered by an Illinois state trooper. He was released at 8:30 a.m. Sunday upon posting a $102 cash bond, pending a hearing.

Cannabis arrests by school, police

Possession of a marijuana cigarette by Edward Emerson, 17, of 2716 Harding Blvd., was alleged last week at Granite City High School. A boy, 16, also was booked for cannabis possession. Both were released on notices to appear at a hearing.

In an unrelated case Thursday, two GCHS boys, both 16 years old, were arrested for possessing cannabis at 30th Street and Grand Avenue.

School authorities detected the violation, and police confiscated hand-rolled cigarettes, papers, a pipe, a pipe cleaner and a plastic bag containing cannabis residue. The students were released to return for a hearing.

April license plates must be bought at financial institutions

Automobile owners with license plates expiring in April, who have not mailed their applications, should buy their new plates or stickers at a financial institution, Secretary of State Jim Edgar said this week. It is now too late to send applications by mail and guarantee delivery of the new plates or stickers before the April 30 deadline. However, stickers and plates may be purchased at Secretary of State facilities in Springfield and Chicago and at more than 1,400 financial institutions, including 660 banks, 171 savings and loan associations, 16 credit unions and 12 Chicago area currency exchanges.

"If you have a current license plate with numbers only, you will be issued new plates this year," Edgar explained. "During the next three years, all 5.5 million cars in Illinois will receive license plates with the new design."

Motorists wishing to keep their same plate number can apply for their new plates through a Secretary of State facility or financial institution.

Pre-printed renewal applications have been mailed to 530,500 owners who renew their stickers in April and 45,500 owners who will receive new passenger car plates this month.

Montessori School open house scheduled Tuesday, April 24

To celebrate "The Week of the Young Child," The Edwardsville Montessori School will sponsor an Open House on Tuesday, April 24, from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. The school, a non-profit Montessori school for all children ages 2½ years through sixth grade, is located in the old Stallings School building at 4401 Highway 162, in Granite City, close to the intersection of Routes 162 and 111.

During the open house, showings of a 52-minute documentary film will be at 11 a.m., 1:30 p.m., 2:30 p.m. and again at 6 p.m. The film is titled, "Montessori: Follow the Child." It combines a narrative of Dr. Maria Montessori with spontaneous classroom footage explaining Montessori education.

The Montessori approach helps children develop their fullest abilities at their own individual pace. The children are free to move about the classroom, to talk to other children, to work with any equipment they understand, or to ask the teacher to introduce new material to them. Children are not free to disturb other children at work, or to misuse the equipment that is so important to their development.

The public may observe students at work in the classroom between 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. They may also tour the facility, ask questions, and meet the Montessori teaching staff.

In honor of "The Week of the Young Child," preschoolers will release colorful balloons at 10 a.m. from the schoolyard. Further information, is available by calling the school at 931-2508.

Registrations for September, 1984 will be accepted. The school is accredited by the Association Montessori Internationale and registered with the Illinois State Board of Education.

The "Week of the Young Child" is the brainchild of the National Association for the Education of Young Children, a group of professionals involved with the various aspects of Early Childhood Education. The Illinois Chapter of the NAEYC has announced April 23-27 as the observance in this state.

Dr. Malmberg is chief of psychiatric services

Virgil L. Malmberg, M.D., a former Granite Cityan, has been named chief of psychiatric services at Missouri Baptist Hospital, according to an announcement by Norman E. McCann, president.

In his new position, Dr. Malmberg will be responsible for coordinating nursing service, therapies, social service, and all inpatient and outpatient programs on the hospital's 80-bed psychiatric unit. Missouri Baptist is located at 3015 N. Ballas Road, St. Louis.

Dr. Malmberg holds degrees from the University of Illinois and is a graduate of the University of Missouri Medical School at Columbia.

He took his residency at Washington University Medical School, where he is now a member of the faculty.

In addition to his staff affiliation with Missouri Baptist Hospital, Dr. Malmberg has a private practice and is on the staffs of Barnes, Jewish, St. John's, Mercy, St. Joseph's and St. Luke's hospitals.

TWO INJURED IN COLLISION

Mrs. Frances Strubberg, 41, of 2552 Adams St., the driver, and Sandra Strubberg, 14, of the same address, a passenger, received minor injuries last week when the right front of their auto hit the left rear of the parked car of David Brian, Edwardsville, in the 3500 block of Johnson Road.

Boundaries

and Fred Walton, the vice president who fielded most of the aldermen's questions, tried hard not "to add fuel to the fire of disbelief" that the aldermen have learned to accept in downtown projects.

WALTON SAID he expects to make known to the council within the next two weeks one private developer who seems interested in being the first to take the plunge. He said the support of the council is important when the current downtown conditions produce only a "stagnant...eroding tax base."

"It's not like a pie-in-the-sky thing," said Seventh Ward Alderman Paul Ray Bowler, member of the newly-formed downtown advisory group, about the renovation plans. He pointed out the current downtown conditions produce only a "stagnant...eroding tax base."

The two urban planners had laid the groundwork for their council presentation by first giving their downtown talks to a variety of local business and community groups. They have received the endorsements of those groups.

THE DIFFERENCE Tuesday was that aldermen hold the power to authorize a special tax increment district. Such an ordinance would allow the city to condemn tracts of land for development, borrow money to clear the earmarked properties for developers, make public improvements and give loans to private developers.

Under tax increment financing, the real estate taxes from those properties distributed to the taxing bodies can be "frozen," although the assessed valuations, and taxes paid, increase. The surplus of tax money can be used to pay off the bonds issued for the improvements.

Fourth Ward Alderman Sharon Perjak, another downtown advisory committee member, received unanimous approval from fellow aldermen when she asked them to accept the taxing district boundaries suggested by Peckham. An authorizing ordinance will not be sought until at least one major developer is willing to invest in the project.

The boundaries stretch north to 22nd Street, south to 16th Street, east to Adams Street and west to Madison Avenue. According to Peckham's report, "If it is desirable to include or delete other areas, this may be done at a later date when a tax increment plan is prepared."

ACCORDING to First Ward Alderman Casmer Skubish, the big question remaining is who will find the necessary private investors. "I'm skeptical we're not going to have a follow-through," he said.

Walton said his firm will continue its search, but advised aldermen to continue with the city's own downtown task force and to designate a city staff person willing to carry on with the study findings.

A few years ago, in an economy measure, the city discontinued the position of mayor's assistant, which had been a position for planning downtown development. Later, a part-time urban planner for the city, who had been paid through a government jobs program, left to take on a full-time position.

OTHER ALDERMEN wanted to know what kinds of risks the city could be taking if it commits itself and the project fails—since the city could eventually be borrowing money against expected increased property tax revenues to be generated from successful downtown projects.

Walton said the developer could either have to sign an agreement guaranteeing the higher tax payments, regardless of the success of the project, or take out bond insurance.

However, the planner said, "What we're asking you to do this evening isn't going to cost you one cent."

STRONG supporters of the plan were Aldermen Bowler, Third Ward Paul Fisk, Sixth Ward Alderman Woodrow Moad and Seventh Ward Alderman Michael Modrusic. Fisk recalled a tour of Belleville's renovated downtown district that he said had increased sales tax revenue by $1 million. "It (redevelopment) changes the image of a city," Bowler said.

"I think this is something we've got to make a reality," Modrusic said. "This is something our city needs to be revitalized...We owe it to ourselves."

Third Ward Alderman Carl Kittel commended the Peckham study for its proposed use of existing downtown buildings and landscaping that are characteristic of Granite City people. "I think it's a very good plan," he commented.

THE PROJECT would ideally use the current triangular park theme already existing in the downtown area and eventually expand it by converting all the small wedges along Niedringhaus Avenue into pocket parks.

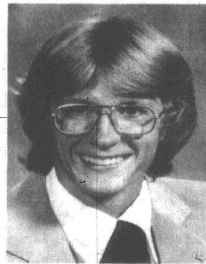

The current Memorial Park, across from St. Elizabeth Medical Center, would form a "green front door" for a motel development that would close off Grand Avenue from 20th to 21st streets.

A pedestrian walkway would stretch down 20th Street, on past 21st Street, and then cut across to State Street, to form an entrance to the existing stores in the downtown area. New shops would be located at 20th Street and Grand Avenue.

OTHER CONCEPTS include offices on Madison Avenue, housing at the site of the former McKinley School and a light industrial complex to be located between 16th and 18th streets.

Important to note, according to Walton, is the fact the $20 million project would be supported, perhaps, by 50 percent government financing, either by tax increment breaks or other low-interest federal loans. Those loans could, in turn, form a pool of money from which other renovation projects could be sponsored.

Once private developers have been located, the program could be completed in three to four years, he said.

COLLISION OCCURS

AT MADISON-AUST Mrs. Maye Drum, 66, of St. Louis, was cited for failing to yield the right-of-way at a stop sign, following an accident during the weekend.

Mrs. Drum's auto, westbound on 21st Street, was involved in a collision with the vehicle of William T. Burris, 61, of 1122 Reynolds St., Madison, who was heading north on Madison Avenue, reports said.

Mrs. Evelyn Burris, 56, a passenger in the Burris car, sustained a minor injury, it was noted.

BOY THWARTED IN LOOTING CASH REGISTER AT STORE

Attempted theft was the charge filed last week against a Madison boy, 14, who was captured by two K-Mart employees after a foot chase through a shopping center parking lot.

It is contended that the boy opened a cash register drawer in the camera-jewelry area and tried to steal its contents.

Honors to State Farm agents here

Bill Frazier, Joe Hassler, Ray Morgan and Tom Thebeau, agents for the State Farm Insurance Companies in Granite City, have been named to the Legion of Honor, one of the company's most distinguished sales accomplishments.

Only about one in four State Farm agents qualifies for this designation. To qualify, agents must achieve high standards in all aspects of the insurance business, especially regarding the claims experience of their business.

Morgan has been an agent since 1977, Thebeau since 1972, Frazier since 1961 and Hassler since 1958.

WEBER is alleging that his persecution is politically motivated by the Democrat-controlled court system. If convicted of the Class IV felonies upon which he was indicted, Weber could be sentenced to serve up to three years in prison.

Weinberg to give Shaw Memorial lecture at SIUE

Alvin Weinberg, director of the Institute for Energy Analysis at Oak Ridge, Tenn., will deliver the Fourth Annual William C. Shaw Memorial Lecture at 7:30 p.m. April 30, in the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Science Laboratory Building upper auditorium. The title of Director Weinberg's address will be "A Second Nuclear Era: Prospects and Perspectives."

An eminent physicist, Weinberg is a recognized authority on energy and other matters. He was instrumental in the establishment of the Institute for Energy Analysis at Oak Ridge Associated Universities in early 1974.

WEINBERG JOINED the Oak Ridge National Laboratory in 1945 as one of the first members of the University of Chicago's wartime metallurgical laboratory. He served as director of the Physics Division and research director from 1948 to 1953. From 1953, he acted as overall director of the laboratory.

Weinberg was the originator of the pressurized water reactor and proposed its use for submarine propulsion in 1944. He has published many papers on reactor physics. In 1958, he and E. P. Weigner authored "The Physical Theory of Neutron Chain Reactors."

As a writer and lecturer on science policy, Weinberg has contributed to the formulation of public policy concerning the relationship between science and government, as well as between technology and society. He received his baccalaureate and advanced degrees in physics from the University of Chicago.

FOR HIS ROLE in the development of nuclear reactors, he has been awarded many honors, most notably the Atoms for Peace Award, the Fermi Award, and the Harvey Prize. Weinberg is a member of the National Academy of Sciences, The American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the National Academy of Engineering, the American Philosophical Society and the Royal Netherlands Academy of Arts and Sciences.

The lecture at SIUE honors the memory of the late William C. Shaw, who was professor of physics at SIUE from 1959 until his retirement

SIUE continues residency policy

Continuation of residency status tuition policies, which permit Missouri residents to attend Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville on a part-time basis at in-state rates, was approved Thursday by the SIUE Board of Trustees.

The board took the action after receiving recommendations from Chancellor Kenneth A. Shaw and the two SIUE presidents, Earl Lazerson, Edwardsville, and Albert Somit, Carbondale, indicating they favor continuation of the policies and that they would continue to monitor the effects of the policies on an annual basis if the board approved an extension.

THE POLICY permitting Missouri residents to take as many as nine hours of credit per quarter at in-state tuition rates has been in effect at SIUE since the Fall Quarter of 1981. At SIUE at Carbondale, the policy has been extended to part-time graduate students since the spring semester of 1982 and also to full-time graduate students who are residents of 14 designated counties in Western Kentucky.

Amendments authorizing the policies on an experimental basis for a three-year period were approved by the board in March, 1981. University officers said their effects have been monitored in qualitative and quantitative terms. Use of the policies has increased enrollments, while operating costs have not increased, resulting in a "modest" increase in revenue.

At SIUE, graduate registrants from Missouri increased 131 percent from fall quarter 1979 to fall quarter 1983, and undergraduate Missouri registrants increased 52 percent from fall quarter 1980 to fall quarter 1983. According to university officers, 36 percent of all inquiries about Week End University come from Missouri residents.

President Lazerson said, "The Missouri residents attending SIUE are exposed to the opportunities and growth potential available in Illinois, leading to serious consideration of this state for business expansion, residence, or employment. The resulting economic development consequences are clear."

Honored at international event

Senator Sam Vandalabene, Edwardsville Mayor Ken Evers, and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville President Earl Lazerson will be the honored guests at "International Night," at 6 p.m. Saturday, April 21, in the Communications Building, at the university.

The event will feature fashion shows, performances and food tasting. The countries of Africa, India, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Pakistan, Taiwan, Thailand and Turkey will be featured, as well as other countries from the Middle-East. Included in the entertainment will be traditional songs and dances and an Indian wedding ceremony. Rose Chu, president of the International Student Council, will emcee the program.

FOOD WILL BE available in the lobby of the Communications Building, and an outdoor dining area will be set up on the Morris Quadrangle in front of the building, if weather permits. Representatives in native costumes from 12 countries will serve dishes for participants to taste.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Should a person who has been injured in another part of the state be able to bring a lawsuit against a corporation in St. Clair or Madison counties? This is a question which the Illinois Courts have been struggling with for the last few years. State law provides that a corporation can be sued in any county where it does business. This may appear to be a simple test to apply at first glance, but a series of recent Court decisions have turned this into a complex question.

One may wonder why plaintiffs and their attorneys are so interested in bringing lawsuits in St. Clair and Madison counties. The reason for the great interest in these two counties is because they are among the highest jury-verdict counties in the entire country. This can probably be explained by the fact that many who sit on juries here are blue-collar workers who are very sympathetic to the plaintiff who has a case against the large corporation.

In a recent case, a man was injured on the property owned by a corporation in another part of the state. The plaintiff filed suit in Madison county, alleging that the corporation did business there. In this case, the only contacts the corporation had with Madison county was the fact that they had promoted their business in Alton, Illinois on various occasions and they had advertised in a newspaper which had some circulation in Madison county.

The Court found that this did not meet the test of "doing business" in Madison county, and therefore the case was to be transferred back to Perry county. Illinois Courts have consistently held that for a corporation to be sued in a given county, the defendant must be "conducting its usual and customary business" there. Mere advertising or solicitation in that county are not sufficient.

The decision in this case was a logical one. However, there have been other decisions in recent years where the corporation was clearly doing business in a given county, and yet the case was transferred to where the accident occurred. The Courts in these cases appear to be expressing a dislike for plaintiffs "shopping" for a more sympathetic jury. It is important to note, however, that these decisions are contrary to the intent of the Illinois legislature, which decided that corporations should be allowed to be sued in any county where they do business.

Birthing room created here

By DEBORAH WILLIAMS

At first glance, one would think she had stepped into someone's apartment. On one side of the room is a kitchenette with wooden cabinets and ruffled curtains looking out on a picturesque forest scene.

Standing nearby is a beautiful oak bed with matching full-length mirror and cradle, waiting to warm and cuddle the first baby to be born in St. Elizabeth Medical Center's new birthing room.

The birthing room, located on 2-Docors adjacent to the conventional labor and delivery rooms, contains the latest technological equipment and is staffed with two registered nurses.

With the initiation of this room, eligible persons will have the opportunity to share the birthing process within a family-centered environment.

"We are very excited about this concept," said Sister Mary Thomas, SEMC president. "Especially since this type of environment is very helpful in creating an immediate bonding or relationship between mother and child."

Unlike conventional labor and delivery rooms, the birthing room is on a first-come, first-served basis.

"Interested mothers-to-be must first contact their personal physician and let them know they are interested in using the birthing room," said Elizabeth Gramates, OB-GYN nursing supervisor.

"This should be done as early as possible, since there are requirements that must be met before they are eligible to use the birthing room."

The physician must be on staff at SEMC and must consent to this type of birthing procedure. Verification of a normal, uncomplicated delivery must also be made by the attending physician.

Specific problems that would make someone ineligible for this program include hypertension, heart problems, diabetes or other medically related ailments.

"The physician then provides the hospital with two consent forms — one from the patient and one from the doctor," Elizabeth Gramates said. "Among the more important criteria necessary for admittance is the presence of a support person."

"This person can be anyone. The father. A relative. A friend."

"However, that support person must stay with the mother throughout labor and delivery and can, if he or she wishes, remain during the recovery period, which is approximately two hours."

Another basic requirement is the attendance and completion of an approved prenatal program for both the mother and the support person.

"This can be any approved prenatal preparation class," she said. "SEMC offers free prenatal classes taught by qualified OB nurses."

"But if they do not attend these classes, both persons must submit certificates of completion they received from the alternative prenatal class before admission is approved."

When an expectant mother arrives at the hospital, she is given a preliminary assessment in the regular labor room by a registered nurse, assigned specifically to her. Medical history and vital signs are also taken.

Afterward, the mother and the support person are taken to the birthing room, where the mother is monitored throughout the labor period.

Birthing room procedures are the same as in a conventional delivery, with the exception of the use of the Adel Birthing Bed.

Although it looks like a regular twin bed, the Adel Birthing Bed can change positions to be more conducive to the birthing process.

Immediately after delivery, a registered nurse attends to and monitors the newborn.

Instead of being taken to the nursery immediately after birth, the newborn is placed in the cradle next to the mother's bed and allowed to stay in the room during the entire recovery period.

"The only exception to this would be if another mother was in active labor and waiting to use the birthing room," it was explained. "Then we would move the first mother to a conventional recovery room, and the baby would be taken to the nursery ahead of scheduled patients."

For the protection of the mother and newborn infant, the following visitation rules have been established:

1. No children under 12 years of age will be allowed in the room.

2. No more than three visitors, including the support person, may be in the room at any one time.

For more information on the birthing room, area residents may contact their personal physician or the SEMC Nursing Service at 798-3142.

BIRTHING ROOM. Mrs. Janet Haroian (left) of Edwardsville discusses with Sue Teitloff, a registered nurse, the birthing procedures she will experience when she uses the new birthing room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Pattern of multiple winners continuing

Seven individuals correctly matched all six winning lotto numbers drawn April 14, state officials confirmed Tuesday.

Each will receive a lump sum payment of $279,492.

This marks the fifteenth week since a lotto grand prize has been won by a single winner. The seven new winners include Mrs. Deloris Ploch of Mitchell.

Michael J. Jones, Illinois lottery superintendent, explained that "had there been a single lotto winner, he or she would have received a 20-year, $5 million annuity."

"That annuity would have been purchased with the cash in the Grand prize pool. However, since there were seven winners, they will share the actual cash in the pool, which amounted to $1,956,447."

In addition to the grand prize winners, 775 people matched five of the six winning numbers, and each will receive $1,030.

There were 30,136 who matched four of the six winning numbers and they will each receive $39.

Winning numbers were 08, 18, 20, 27, 31 and 38.

The new guaranteed prize for a single winner is $4.5 million. Multiple winners would share the actual cash in the grand prize pool.

Registrations for State Water Plan Conference

Registrations will be accepted until tomorrow from persons interested in attending the Illinois State Water Plan Conference May 1 in the Department of Agriculture Building at the State Fairgrounds, Springfield.

The purpose of the conference is to serve as a forum for discussion of the new State Water Plan by water resource planners, managers, researchers, public officials, organizations concerned with the management of Illinois' waters and other interested in the subject.

The State Water Plan is the result of a three-year study of water resource issues by a State Water Plan Task Force formed by Gov. James Thompson from representatives of 12 executive branch state agencies. The Task Force's recently published report deals with water resource issues that are emerging as new problems or have previously received inadequate attention.

In recommending strategies to meet those problems, the report also has improved the effectiveness of Illinois' ongoing water resource management programs, according to Donald R. Vonnahme, task force chairman and director of the Division of Water Resources of the Department of Transportation.

State Rep. James Rea, chairman of the General Assembly's Water Resources Commission, will welcome the conferees and Vonnahme will explain the task force planning process. Participants then may attend panel discussions in any of four areas of concern — resource management, research and data, water supply and program coordination.

Topics within these areas include: controlling effects of erosion and sedimentation on Illinois' waters; computerized natural resource information systems; water conservation; coordinated protection and management of streams, lakes and reservoirs; preserving aquatic and riparian habitat for fish and wildlife; water resources research and education; providing water-based recreation opportunities; and responding to droughts and floods.

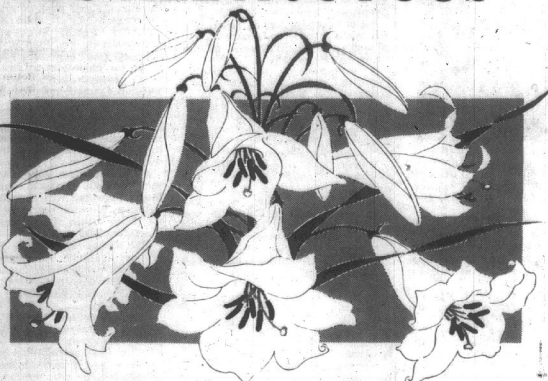

Participants will receive a copy of the final State Water Plan task force report.

For further information or to register, interested persons may call the Department of Conservation at 1-217-782-3715 or the Water Resources Center at 1-217-333-6536.

BATTERY, DAMAGE ARRESTS
Dennis M. Pigg, 29, of 2428 Ohio Ave. was arrested there last week for battery after Eugene W. Pospischel, 18, of 1827 Collinsville Ave., Madison, was struck on the head with a stick. Mrs. Opal Pigg charged Pospischel with property damage for allegedly destroying a mailbox with a hammer. Pospischel also was booked Thursday evening on a 1980 Madison property damage warrant.

Accidents close I-270; Quad-Cityans involved

The westbound lanes of I-270, approaching the Mississippi River bridge in Illinois, were closed about three hours early Wednesday after seven vehicles were involved in two accidents. Two of the drivers were from the Quad-City area.

No apparent injuries resulted from the crashes. Although, Thomas E. Santoni, 22, of Granite City, whose auto slid beneath the trailer of a tractor-trailer truck, complained of back pains but declined medical attention at the scene, Illinois State Police reported.

According to police, the first accident occurred about 7:50 a.m. yesterday when Dennis Rives, 37, of Carlyle, Ill., ran out of gas in the left lane of westbound I-270, just east of the bridge across the Mississippi.

As Rives moved his car into the right lane, two other approaching cars slowed down and stopped, reports said.

At that point, a fourth vehicle driven by Donald L. Cowgill, 55, of Lebanon, Ill., tried to pass when his tractor-trailer jackknifed, went into the center guardrail and hit the rear of one of the halted cars, operated by Donna E. Harper, 31, of Madison.

The Harper auto then was pushed into the other stopped car of Dana L. Wayne, 25, of Bethalto.

Meanwhile, a second mishap was occurring in the same area as a westbound car driven by Santoni was approaching the accident scene and became involved in a collision with an auto operated by Helen England, 52, of Edwardsville, which had stopped in the left lane because of the first accident.

Santoni's car and the tractor-trailer of James H. Mullins, 45, of Morristown, Tenn., also collided, with part of the auto going under the trailer section, reports said.

Standoff with Nestle ends with tie on tax

Granite City and Nestle Co., Inc., 2101 Adams St., have ended a four-year battle over the city's demand for a type of wastewater treatment tax the tea company's attorney claims was a duplicate charge.

Attorney Leo Konzen convinced the council Tuesday to rescind an ordinance that will relieve Nestle's of an estimated $13,000 yearly bill and other local industries combined charges of about $7,000.

The city will continue to collect from Nestle's approximately $250,000 each year to use the city's wastewater treatment plant, under an industrial waste pre-treatment program established a few years ago.

The Industrial Cost Recovery tax ordinance had originally been imposed by the council, according to U.S. Environmental Protection Agency regulations. The tax was split between the city and USEPA to help each recover costs bore to build the city's wastewater treatment plant.

Nestle refused to pay the tax to the city sometime after the federal government decided to give up its share of the tax collection.

A solution to the impasse between the city and Nestle presented itself when Nestle overpaid the city $20,000 for its quarterly pre-treatment tax payment. The firm owes the city approximately that amount in back industrial cost recovery.

Konzen told the city Nestle would not seek a refund. "That would make us current," he said. "And, in return, the city abolishes the ICR."

Msgr. Sheridan is vicar general

Bishop Daniel L. Ryan this week appointed Monsignor Paul W. Sheridan, formerly of Granite City, as vicar general of the Springfield Catholic diocese, succeeding Msgr. William F. Haug, a priest for 48 years who has served the diocese in various capacities with four bishops.

Msgr. Sheridan, who was born here and attended local schools, also was named Tuesday as moderator of the curia, a new position created by the revised Code of Canon Law.

He is being succeeded as chancellor by Fr. John A. Renken, who also has been named episcopal vicar for canonical affairs, a new post created after the Second Vatican Council and highlighted in the revised code.

Msgr. Sheridan as vicar general will serve the immediate administrative and pastoral governance of the entire diocese.

As moderator of the curia, under the bishop's pastoral leadership Msgr. Sheridan will coordinate the exercise of administrative responsibilities within the offices of the diocesan curia.

The chancellor is the primary notary, archivist and secretary of the curia, providing pastoral leadership together with the vicar general in immediate collaboration with the bishop.

Msgr. Sheridan, 52, son of Mrs. Edna Sheridan and the late Philip Henry Sheridan Sr., was ordained Dec. 16, 1956, and received a doctorate in canon law. Chancellor since 1974, he was interim administrator of the diocese from the death in April 1983 of Bishop Joseph A. McNicholas until Jan. 17 when Bishop Ryan became the bishop.

ALLEGED GC DRIVER IS DUI IN MADISON

John J. Harding, 27, of 2816 Maryville Road, was charged by Madison police with driving under the influence of alcohol and speeding early this week, after his pickup truck was clocked on radar and halted at Sixth Street and Madison Avenue.

Harding agreed to take a breathalyzer test, administered by an Illinois state trooper, and was released upon posting his driver's license and a $102 cash bond, pending a May 25 hearing.

Serving our country

News of Quad-City area servicemen serving in the various branches of the U.S. military includes:

DELBERT J. MOAD

For exceptionally heroic actions against a hostile force in Grenada, Army Staff Sergeant Delbert J. Moad, United States Army, of Granite City, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal with "V" Device.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James (Ethel) Moad, 2304 Orville Ave., and is married to the former Linda Armour of Madison. The couple has three children, Shinnetha, 12, Brock, 8 and Gregory, 5.

The citation accompanying the Bronze Star, signed by Major General Edward L. Trobaugh, U. S. Army, reads in part:

"For exceptionally heroic actions against a hostile force in the country of Grenada on Oct. 26, 1983.

"As a Squad Leader assigned to Combat Support Company, 2nd Battalion (Airborne), 325th Infantry, Staff Sgt. Moad led his squad while fighting their way out of an ambush after experiencing intense automatic weapons fire.

"Upon discovering that part of the platoon had not returned, he led his squad back into the kill zone and laid down suppressive fire to cover the platoon's escape from the ambush.

"Staff Sgt. Moad's actions in combat reflect distinct credit upon himself, the 82nd Airborne Division and the United States Army."

A paratrooper and a member of the 82nd Airborne, Staff Sgt. Moad, 25, was presented the Bronze Star in ceremonies at Fort Bragg, N. C., where he is currently stationed.

He graduated from Granite City High School North in 1976 and enlisted in the Army the same year. Earlier in his military career he served in Korea.

The serviceman's brother, James Moad II, 17, a senior at Granite City High School, has received an appointment to the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo. He will leave July 6 to commence training at the academy.

Last Nov. 15, the younger Moad brother was the first recipient of the Keith Lucas Memorial Award at the Granite City High School fall sports banquet.

The award was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Stan Lucas in memory of their son, Army Captain Keith Lucas, who was fatally wounded while attempting to land his helicopter during the Grenada Operation.

Capt. Lucas, a North high school graduate, was named All-Metro offensive guard on Steelers' 1974 football team. The award will be presented annually to an individual player, who displays football ability, academic excellence, citizenship and character.

THOMAS J. BYER

Marine Private First Class Thomas J. Byer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. (Vivian L.) Byer, 2453 Pontoon Road, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego, Calif.

During the 11-week training cycle, Pfc. Byer learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized through the training, it was noted.

WALLACE WEIDNER

Fireman Apprentice Wallace B. Weidner, son of Mrs. Cynthia Weidner, 2244 Bern Ave., is stationed at the United States Coast Guard Fire Island Station in Babylon, N. Y.

He entered the United States Coast Guard last June and graduated from basic training at the United States Coast Guard Training Center in Cape May, N. J.

FA Weidner has participated in many search and rescue missions in the past eight months. Presently, he is training at the Fire Island station to become a fireman.

He is a 1983 graduate of Granite City High School North.

JAMIE POWELL

Army Private Jamie H. Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. (Joyce A.) Powell, 4445 Highway 162, has completed a combat engineer course at the U.S. Army Training Center at Fort Leonard Wood, St. Roberts, Mo.

During the course, students were trained in the techniques of road and bridge building, camouflage and demolition. They also received instruction in combat squad tactics as well as in the use of infantry weapons.

BRUCE A. GORDON

Lieutenant (junior grade) Bruce A. Gordon of Granite City, a U. S. Navy helicopter pilot, presently is serving on board the flagship of a multi-national NATO naval squadron on operations in the North Atlantic Ocean.

The officer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. (Marie M.) Gordon, 3152 Colgate Place, and is married to the former Nancy Jo Havens of Liberty, Mo.

He was graduated in 1976 from Granite City High School South and earned a bachelor of arts degree in English at William Jewell College in Liberty, Mo. in 1980.

After his graduation from college, Lt. Gordon attended Officer Candidate School and, upon commissioning, was selected to attend flight school.

"I've always wanted to fly," Gordon said, "and Navy pilots are the best pilots in the United States."

He chose to jockey the SH-2F "Sea Sprite" Light Airborne Multi-Purpose System (LAMPS) helicopter.

"Operating on smaller ships, like destroyers and frigates, is a challenge," the officer said, adding "and I like the operational mission of the Sea Sprite."

The mission of the LAMPS helicopter is to act as an extension of a ship's search and attack capability, he explained. They specialize in submarine detection and combat, and over-the-horizon surveillance and targeting.

Helicopter Antisubmarine Squadron Light Thirty-two (HSL-32), homeported at the Naval Air Station, Norfolk, Va., is the lieutenant's parent command. HSL-32 consists of nine deployed detachments and a home unit.

Lt. Gordon acts as Operations Officer for Detachment Three, balancing flight hours and schedules, accounting and operational reports with his actual flight time.

"As a naval officer and a pilot, I have to be a jack-of-all-trades; a manager and a master pilot," he said.

The Granite Cityan currently is deployed to the North Atlantic Ocean on board USS O'Bannon, a modern, anti-submarine capable destroyer. USS O'Bannon is serving as the flagship of a multi-national NATO naval squadron, the Standing Naval Force Atlantic (STANAVFORLANT).

The squadron is made up of six ships from six different NATO countries.

"I think I've grown up a lot, operating with STANAVFORLANT," Lt. Gordon. "The Europeans are very serious about their commitment to NATO, because they are closer to the threat."

"It has made me more aware of world politics and the political situation. We are all free men," he added, "and a lot of people feel freedom is worth fighting for."

The 25-year-old lieutenant said it is too early for him to decide what his career intentions are, but he noted, "It would be hard to find a job with the same challenges."

Lt. Gordon will return to Norfolk in July when USS O'Bannon returns to its homeport of Charleston, S.C.

JOHN ROBBINS

Staff Sergeant John Robbins has been named the Top Small Recruiting Station Active Army Recruiter and Top High School Senior Recruiter for the Granite City Recruiting Company for February. It was announced this week.

Sgt. Robbins, who works as an Army recruiter at 3675 Nameok Road, also has earned a third Gold Star Award for his recruiting efforts.

The local area recruiter entered the service in 1975 and has served at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., Fort Riley, Kans., and in Germany. He became an Army recruiter in 1982.

A native of Joplin, Mo., Sgt. Robbins attended Buena Vista High School in Sierra Vista, Ariz. Young people who can meet the Army's physical and aptitude standards may contact Sgt. Robbins in person to learn more about opportunities in the new Army, or call 876-3050.

Information on skill training, educational aid, travel options and many other benefits the Army has to offer is available from the local recruiter, authorities said.

JOSEPH GOODRICH

Marine Lance Corporal Joseph T. Goodrich, son of Thomas J. Goodrich, 3247 Franklin Ave., has been promoted to his present rank while serving with the First Marine Brigade at Kaneohe Bay in Hawaii.

KEVIN TURNER

Airman Kevin D. Turner, a nephew of Ozzie Patton, 1029 Calhoun St., Venice, has graduated from the U. S. Air Force pavement maintenance course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex. He is scheduled to be assigned to the Rhein-Main Force Base in West Germany.

In the course, the airman was taught maintenance procedures for aircraft runways, roads, parking areas and railroad tracks. Students also earned credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Airman Turner, a 1983 graduate of O'Fallon Technical High School, St. Louis, is the son of Hortense Turner of St. Louis.

Port District board approves contracts

At the last regular meeting of the Tri-City Regional Port District board, the opening of bids for truck dump and rail facility projects at the port was delayed until today and Friday, April 20.

It was explained that the bidders were having problems getting the material prices needed to make bids on the projects. All bidders were notified of the bid opening delay.

Also during the monthly meeting of the board, contracts were awarded for various services at the port.

A five-year contract was awarded to the Curtis Detective Agency of Granite City for guard protection of the port and facilities. The new contract reflects a 3 percent increase over the 1983 contract cost.

A five-year contract with a five-year option was approved for Art's Fleet Service. The contract covers barge fleet at the local harbor.

A one-year contract for rail repairs, for both general and emergency repairs to port district rail facilities, was awarded to the L & S Track Co. of Granite City. The rail bid consisted of 42 individual unit bids on parts, materials and labor. L & S Track was low bidder on 27 of the unit bids.

Other business discussed at the meeting included preliminary plans for the 25th anniversary observance of the Tri-City Port District, beginning in May of this year. A public open house is planned as the highlight of a year-long anniversary celebration.

Foreign language survey April 24 in GC school district

A survey will be taken in Granite City schools Tuesday, April 24, to determine how many 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th grade students would be interested in taking Latin as a foreign language at the high school level if it is offered.

Latin was at one time a part of the foreign language curriculum. It was phased out because of lack of enrollment.

"When it was phased out, many students had to switch to either Spanish or German and were unable to get two full years of one language in high school. Most colleges that require a foreign language for graduation will accept two years of a foreign language taken in high school to meet that requirement," a school spokesman said.

Students will be asked to say whether: "I would take Latin if it is offered. I would take two years of Latin if offered. I am signed up for Spanish next fall. I am taking Spanish I, II, III or IV now. I am signed up to take German next fall. I am taking German I, II, III or IV now. If Latin is offered after school hours on a tuition basis (approximately $50) one hour a day five days a week, I would be interested in taking it."

Blind, ailing woman who worked 70 years enjoys having own home

Following is the statement made by Miss Frances Hargis of Cottage Hills before the U.S. Senate Special Committee on Aging at last weekend's public hearing at Granite City Center:

"I'm blind, am a diabetic, and have high blood pressure and a heart condition.

"I've been blind for about six years. Before that, I worked with the mentally retarded at Avery Farms for 38 years. I was going blind in my left eye when I quit, and had an eye operation.

"I can see nothing out of my left eye now and just a bit out of my right eye — just large objects. I even need assistance in eating, since I can't see.

"Because I'm diabetic, my sister and her daughter used to take me to the hospital early in the mornings for blood sugar tests. It was sometimes difficult, when they had other things to do.

"The lady there at the hospital asked me why I didn't get a visiting nurse. Dr. Taylor, my physician, thought that was a good idea and contacted the Visiting Nurse Association of Alton.

"My visiting nurse, Kay Mehlich, comes once a week to take my blood pressure and check my heart. She also checks my legs for swelling, since I also have a water retention problem, and fills 20 syringes with insulin for the next week.

"I have one of the most wonderful nurses that God ever put on this earth. She has been visiting for four or five years, and I don't know what I would do without her.

"Kay suggested several times that I should get someone to come in to do my cleaning and help out. However, I was afraid to have someone I didn't know in the house.

"In the past, people have come in to 'help' me, and I've later found things missing. I was also afraid that it might be someone who smoked, and they would drop a cigarette and start a fire.

"I went into the hospital and Dr. Taylor also asked me why I didn't let somebody come in. I explained my concerns to him, and he let it go that time.

"When I was in the hospital the last time, though, after having fallen at home, he said that I must consent to have somebody in the house.

"He put me on a very strict diet, and someone was needed to prepare the meal. It was either having some home help or going into a nursing home.

"For 70 years, I worked hard, and finally got my home. It isn't much, but it's home to me and I didn't want to leave it. So, I had to get some help. Vivian (JoAnne) Cole is my homemaker. She comes in and cooks my meals, cleans the house, takes my wash to the laundromat and does it. She has been coming to my home since shortly before Christmas, and is just a doll.

"JoAnne couldn't do any more for her own mother. In fact, she is the one who brought me here to testify today. I was recently re-evaluated, and I'm now receiving assistance four days a week, three hours a day. Previously, it was only two days a week, two-and-a-half hours a day.

"I get $290 in Social Security benefits per month, have Medicare coverage, and have a Medicaid green card which covers part of my medical expenses.

"My homemaker service is provided under the Community Care Program. I must take much medicine, and it is high. If I would have to go into a nursing home — which I don't want to do — I don't know how I could afford it.

"My Social Security doesn't cover the amount they charge. I guess the state would have to pay for it. I think visiting nurse and homemaker services are wonderful. It really means something to have somebody come in every morning. I look forward to it.

"Nobody understands what it means to someone who is blind to have someone there to listen.

"Unfortunately, there are millions of old and poor people who need somebody and can't get the help. I don't know what I would do without Kay and JoAnne.

PRESIDING IN GRANITE CITY at a U.S. Senate hearing of the Special Committee on Aging, Senator Charles H. Percy opposed existing legislative "impediments to long-term home services and community-based care." He said such impediments hamper aged persons who need and wish to remain in their own homes rather than entering nursing homes.

Legislation for home care seen as enabling many to maintain independence in their lives

Statement by Senator Charles H. Percy before the U.S. Senate Special Committee on Aging at a hearing here April 13 on "Long-Term Care: A Look at Home and Community-Based Services."

Sen. Percy: "I am delighted to see so many of you here this morning to join in looking at the important issue of home health care.

"Of all the concerns and problems voiced to me by senior citizens, the most common is a wish to remain active and independent in their communities. I am absolutely committed to helping maintain the elderly, the infirm, and the terminally ill in their own homes for as long as possible through the intervention of timely health, social, and supportive services.

"Home care reinforces and supplements the care provided by family members and friends, and encourages maximum independence of both thought and functioning.

"Long-term care" has traditionally been interpreted as those services provided on a long-term basis to chronically ill or impaired persons in institutions. As a result, long-term care was commonly viewed as being solely delivered by the medical profession.

"However, the excessive costs of institutional care and the increased demand by older persons and their families for community-based services have contributed to a growing awareness of community-based alternatives.

"The phrase 'long-term care' as we use it today encompasses a wide array of services offered in a variety of settings ranging from nursing homes and other institutions to adult day care centers and other innovative non-institutional arrangements to the patients' own homes.

"Community-based long-term care typically refers to such non-institutional services as home health care (including part-time skilled nursing care and other medically-related services); occupational, physical and speech therapy.

"Also, social services (including adult day care, counseling, financial advice, transportation, friendly visiting); nutritional and health education; homemaker, chore, and personal services (including cooking, shopping, take shopping, home maintenance and feeding).

"Actual services vary depending on patient needs.

"Chronic conditions limit, in varying degrees, the elderly's abilities to carry out the basic activities of daily living such as eating, bathing and dressing. One person with arthritis may become housebound, while another only suffers from occasional flurries.

"When compared to other age groups in the population, a significantly higher proportion of persons 65 and older is limited in activity due to a chronic condition.

"However, functional limitations in daily living increase more dramatically for the group over 75 years old; more than 50 percent of this age group face serious limitations, with 22 percent so severely limited in activity that they cannot carry on independently. Thus, a broad range of health and social services is needed.

"The proportion of elderly persons needing help in personal care or home management assistance increases dramatically in the upper age ranges.

"While only 6.7 percent of persons in the 65 to 74 age range need the help of another person, this figure more than doubles to 15.7 percent for persons in the 65 to 85 age group and surges to 39.3 percent in the 85 and older age group.

"By the same token, 34.8 percent of this age group need help in one or more basic activities, and about a third need help in walking and going outside the home.

"Severe effects of chronic illness may prevent individuals from functioning independently and have an impact on the need for future health and long-term care services.

"In 1980, 10.8 million people over the age of 65 had some degree of limitation in daily activity, ranging from mild to severe, due to chronic illness.

"Future estimates demonstrate that 14.5 million persons age 65 or over are expected to have functional limitations by the year 2020 and 31.8 million by 2050.

"These projections demonstrate that because of the growth of the population with functional and daily activity limitations, twice as many health and long-term care services as are presently available will be needed by the year 2020.

"Nursing home care is extremely costly and is not always appropriate. Discounting inflation, between 1965 and 1985, the cost of nursing home care will have quadrupled.

"Institutional care costs up to $50,000 per year for private pay patients and $30,000 per year for Medicaid patients. At least one-third of these private payers 'spend down' and become eligible for Medicaid in less than one year after admission to nursing homes.

"State governments are finding payment for their share of long-term care an increasing burden. Because the nursing home population is growing, and the cost of providing nursing home care is increasing, Medicaid costs are consuming greater proportions of limited state budgets.

"It is time to look for other less costly and more appropriate ways to provide long-term care services.

"The sources of funding for these long-term care services are varied. Home health care has become one of the fastest growing components of the Medicare and Medicaid budgets.

"Legislative changes in 1981 allowed for state waivers in Medicaid and limited waivers in Medicare.

"Illinois has been the recipient of one of the Medicaid waivers, and used it to establish the Community Care Program.

"Home care, including homemaker, chore, and home health services, is one of the major service categories under title III of the Older Americans Act. This Act also authorizes a home-delivered meals program, which I worked to establish many years ago.

"The federal government supports a variety of other programs which provide some assistance, but very few of these programs have the broad goal of sustaining the individual in the community.

"As a result, there is an array of programs and services that are difficult to coordinate and integrate at the local level, due to differing eligibility criteria, target populations, and administrative networks.

"Despite the diverse goals of these programs, state units on aging and Area Agencies on Aging have been able to shape and direct these resources to develop effective community-based long-term care systems in a number of states and communities.

"The aging network in our own state has done a fine job of coordinating these resources to provide help for those who need it.

"Community-based long-term care should not be seen as an alternative to nursing home care, but rather, help for those who need it. This is not to demean nursing homes. There are many people who do need the intensive care that nursing homes provide, and we are proud of the quality of most of the nursing homes in this country.

"However, there is evidence that 20 to 40 percent of the nursing home population could be cared for at a less intensive level in non-institutional settings by providing basic services to these people in their homes.

"I support a variety of proposals to expand home care services and avoid unnecessary and costly institutionalization whenever possible. I have cosponsored S.1244, the 'Senior Citizens Independent Community Care Act.' This legislation would assist Medicare patients age 65 and over in avoiding placement in a nursing home by making various home health services reimbursable by Medicare.

"In addition, I support the concept of providing an income tax credit to help offset expenses incurred in the care of elderly family members at home and health care.

"Most recently, I cosponsored S.2338. This bill, the 'Home Care Protection Act,' would resolve a problem in the definition of the term 'intermittent care.'

"It would define intermittent care to include one or more visits per day on a daily basis by a nurse or a home health aide for up to 60 days, and thereafter under exceptional circumstances.

"This very important legislation would ensure that those persons who are most in need of skilled home health care are not denied those benefits.

"This hearing will focus on home and community-based care. I look forward to hearing recommendations for overcoming the current limitations in home health care.

Schuler selects chairmen for city's 19 committees

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler has appointed chairmen to serve on the city's permanent aldermanic committees. His action follows an earlier meeting this month, when aldermen decided who would serve as members.

Chairmen and members of the aldermanic committees are:

Finance — First Ward Alderman Sam Whitmer, chairman, and members Aldermen First Ward Carl Kittel and Sixth Ward Stephen Salitch.

Street and alley — Seventh Ward Alderman Michael Modrusic, chairman, and members Aldermen Fourth Ward Sharon Perjak and Varadani.

Fire and Water — Salitch, chairman, and members Aldermen Sixth Ward Woodrow "Woody" Moad and Fifth Ward Lloyd Bailey.

Lights — Bailey, chairman, and members Moad and Miller.

Police — First Ward Alderman Everett Morien, and members Whitmer and Kittel.

Negotiations — Kittel, chairman, Intergovernmental — Schuman, chairman, and members Aldermen Seventh Ward Paul Bowler, and Third Ward Paul Fisk.

Ambulance — Whitmer, chairman, and members Bailey and First Ward Alderman Casmer Skubish. Planning and zoning — Moad, chairman, and members Modrusic and Miller.

Pollution plant — Fisk, chairman, and members Varadani and Kittel.

Traffic — Morien, chairman, and members Salitch and Skubish.

City hall and city buildings — Skubish, chairman, and members Bailey and Salitch.

Downtown — Mrs. Perjak, chairman, and members Fisk and Varadani.

Rehabilitation — Kittel, chairman, and members Morien and Schuman.

Safety — Bailey, chairman, and members Salitch and Fisk.

Insurance — Bowler, chairman, and members Salitch and Morien.

Industrial search — Bowler, chairman, and members, Mrs. Perjak, Skubish, Moad, Varadani, Modrusic, Miller Salitch and Morien.

Criminal trespass to vehicle alleged Cornelius D. Odam Jr., 26, of 1239 Klein St., Venice, was charged with criminal trespass to a motor vehicle and misdemeanor theft after he was taken into custody by a Venice park security officer near the former Venice Methodist church, 230 Broadway, last week.

The park policeman alleged seeing the rear door open on a church van, parked in the Venice recreation area lot, and saw a man running with a white object in his hands.

The security officer gave chase and alleged Odam had an infant's car seat in his possession when he was caught. A jacket and another car seat were found outside the van, reports alleged. The vehicle was owned by Julie Meyer.

Child care food program available here

The United States Department of Agriculture Child Care Food Program is available in Madison County. Quality Child Care, Inc., a non-profit service organization is offering benefits for persons who feed their day care children nutritional food.

Family day care providers who are licensed or are willing to be licensed can be eligible to receive a reimbursement by participating in the Child Care Food Program under the sponsorship of Quality Child Care, Inc.

Providers are required to keep daily attendance records and meal records served to the day care children. The meals served must meet the daily USDA meal pattern requirements.

A representative from QCCT will train and enroll the provider in the program. The representative will monitor the family day care provider in her home three times per year as well as provide support by phone and mail. For these efforts, the provider will be reimbursed $1.03 per lunch, 52¢ cents for breakfast and 30¢ cents for snacks each day per child.

"This extra income enables the provider to purchase and serve nutritional foods for her day care children. The end result is that day care children will learn good eating habits that, once instilled in the preschool child, will last a lifetime."

A spokesman said. Additional information on this program for children's day care may be obtained from Mary Kay Wagner, at 234-0152, or by contacting Quality Child Care, Suite 921 Myers Building, Springfield, Ill. 62701.

Railroad leader to be speaker

John C. Kenefick, chairman and chief executive officer of the Union Pacific System, will speak May 9 at the annual meeting of the Regional Commerce and Growth Association. It was announced Monday by Ted C. Wetterau, RCGA board chairman.

The luncheon meeting will be at the Cervantes Convention Center and will be open to the public. Ticket price is $20 per person.

The RCGA is a 3,400-member organization of businesses, labor unions, political and educational institutions working for economic development of the bi-state metropolitan region.

Kenefick, 62, a native of Buffalo, N.Y., heads the system that includes the Omaha-based Union Pacific Railroad Co. and the St. Louis-based Missouri Pacific Railroad Co. The 22,000-mile system is the nation's third largest in route miles, stretching from the Pacific Coast to the Mississippi River and the Gulf Coast.

Since the merger of MoPac and Union Pacific in December 1982,

Kenefick has directed efforts to provide improved, single-system service.

Wetterau commented, "We will all be interested in his remarks on the impacts of that merger in our region, and what he sees in the future for MoPac and other American railroads. The economic health of this region is largely dependent on efficient operation of transportation systems."

MoPac operates as a sister railroad to Union Pacific. It maintains its separate identity and works closely with Union Pacific to coordinate single-system operations. Before the merger, Kenefick had been president of Union Pacific Railroad since 1971.

Also at the annual meeting, the RCGA will present its Pacesetter Award to an owner or officer of a small business for outstanding contributions to the small business programs of the association. Thirteen organizations will be honored for 100 or more years of existence in this region.

'Teenagers of the Month' announced by GC Elks Lodge

Miss Jeanie Holt and David Oyen have been named "Teenagers of the Month" for March by Granite City Elks Lodge 1063. Both are seniors at Granite City High School.

The "Teenagers of the Month" program is sponsored by the local Elks Lodge in an effort to bring recognition to outstanding high school students in the area.

Miss Holt, 17, is the daughter of Mrs. Leland Holt, 2105 Garfield Ave.

She has been active in various school programs, including National Honor Society, Modern Music Masters, Science Club and Vocal Department. The GCHS senior is a board member of the Red Poppers and secretary of the Foreign Language Club.

Miss Holt is also active in her church youth group and is a past honored queen of Job's Daughters. Her hobbies are reading, camping, needlework and singing.

David Oyen has been active in the National Honor Society and Modern Music Masters in addition to the

Jeanie Holt

David Oyen

High School Band and Band Letterman's Club.

Oyen is a member of the St. Louis Symphony Youth Orchestra. His hobbies include swimming, gardening and basketball playing. Students are nominated monthly by their classmates and teachers and the nominees are then screened by a student-teacher panel.

The final selection is based on multiple achievements in citizenship, scholarship and leadership.

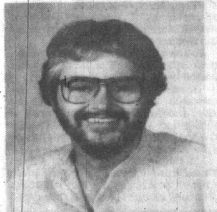

Former resident to conduct concert

Rich McKinney, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John McKinney, of 2112 Fortune Drive, will appear as the composer-conductor for his graduate recital on Wednesday, April 25. His 7:30 p.m. recital will be held at the Baldwin Hall Auditorium at Northeast Missouri State University.

McKinney, who has earned his master degree in the arts from the college, formerly attended Granite City grade and high schools.

Selections from his recital will include: Be Not Silent; String Quartet in Three Movements; Spring Thunder; Tocatta; Three Songs: Flowers, Valentine, Someday; The Singer in the Prison; and Fantasia.

A reception will follow the recital in the Laughlin Clinic Reception Room at 902 E. Latham, Kirksville, Mo.

SQUAD CAR DOOR BROKEN, EAST ALTON MAN CHARGED

Charges of disorderly conduct and property damage were filed last week against Ralph E. Hammer, 27, East Alton, who is said to have fled from police after they halted a beer party in a home at 2308 W. 23rd St. Ten teenagers were told to go to their homes after officers investigated reports of noise and public drinking.

Upon being located and arrested 30 minutes later, he allegedly kicked and broke a police car door and window. Named for alleged disorderly conduct were Ronald J. Hammer, 24, of 1831 Edwardsville Road, Madison, and Timothy Paul Cox, 18, of 2124 Dewey Ave.

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT IS CHARGED AFTER GUNFIRE

Tommy L. Hughes, 26, of 2127 Lee Ave. was arrested for battery, resisting arrest and two counts of aggravated assault after allegedly firing a revolver at Linda Brown, 2149 Lee, and Jack Kuhl, St. Charles, Mo., near the Brown home last week.

Pleading innocent before Associate Judge Nicholas Byron, Hughes was transferred Saturday to the Madison County jail in lieu of $1,000 bail ($50,000 bond).

INVENTORY BEING TAKEN

While she was away from home about 30 minutes last week, someone entered the house and ransacked all drawers. Zorka Ritchie, 2324 Cleveland Blvd., told police. An inventory was being taken to determine what items were taken.

PET ODORS

If your pet is giving off an unpleasant odor, naturally you'll want to do something about it. There is no breed of cat or dog, no individual animal, which "normally" smells bad. Either the animal is just plain dirty or, suffering from a health problem.

First of all, if you've become aware of an unpleasant, pet-related odor around your house, try brushing and bathing your pet. If this doesn't work, you might try brushing in one of the following dry substances - baking soda, baby powder, talcum powder, all of which can help remove oils and fatty acids which are clinging to your pet. Be sure to brush out all the powder, particularly with cats who groom themselves.

A bath with a good shampoo is the next step. If this also fails, then it's time to consult with your veterinarian. Unpleasant pet odors are often associated with various health problems. These include infections of the mouth, ear, intestine, and other areas. Only an examination by your veterinarian will pinpoint the source and possible health problem.

Church Activities

Easter programs at Tri-City Park Church

"The Living Lord's Supper" will be dramatized at Tri-City Park Tabernacle, 3400 Maryville Road, on Sunday, April 22, during the 10:30 a.m. service, according to the Rev. James A. Parks, host minister.

There will be full audience participation in the presentation, including the treading of grapes and drinking of the wine, Rev. Parks explained. The script for the performance was written, based on much research of Bible scripture and history. The production will include a cast of 14 men, special music, and each Apostle will be spotlighted and give an account of their life and death for Jesus.

Sunday night at 7 o'clock another dramatization entitled, "From Out of the Crowd" will be performed by a cast of 10 members of the congregation.

Rev. Parks extends an invitation to the public to attend the services. Proceeds will be used for the great hour of sharing offering to aid hunger and disaster victims throughout the world, the minister explained.

Southern Baptists plan Good Friday services

A Good Friday worship service will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Third Baptist Church, 2601 Grand Ave., under the auspices of the Southern Baptist Churches of the Quad-City area.

Musical presentations will be performed by a choir directed by the direction of Nick Popichak.

The message will be delivered by Dr. Ernest Mosley, executive director of the Illinois Baptist State Association.

An invitation to the public to attend the special observance is extended by the host minister, the Rev. Jim Donohue.

Nameoki Presbyterian announces programs

The Windjammer Mariners from Nameoki Presbyterian Church will sponsor a pizza sale on Saturday, April 28, to raise money for an equipment storage building, Al Bagl, president of the group announced.

Also, The Spirit Sails Mariners, a group of young adults, will hold a rummage sale on May 5 to provide monies for a church van ministry. Sale items are being accepted at the church, it was noted.

Members of the church will be celebrating the "love loaf ingathering" on Sunday, April 29. Banks in the shape of loaves were provided for every family at the beginning of Lent.

Proceeds will be used for the great hour of sharing offering to aid hunger and disaster victims throughout the world, the minister explained.

The internationally acclaimed Passion Play presented annually in Bloomington, Ill., will be enjoyed by members and friends of the congregation on Saturday, May 12.

Tickets for this event are still available by calling Ruby Rhine at 931-3471. Cost for transportation and tickets is $20 per person.

Maundy services tonight at Hope Lutheran Church

A dramatic presentation of De Vinci's Last Supper will be a feature of Maundy Thursday services at 7:30 tonight at Hope Lutheran Church, 3715 Wabash Ave., the Rev. David Fielding announced.

Men of the congregation will be dressed as the disciples and will present monologues of each of the Sisterhood sponsors Schnuck's luncheon. The Sisterhood of Dewey Avenue United Methodist Church sponsored a Schnuck's Luncheon, last week, at the church hall and was attended by 75 members and guests.

Cheryl Corbett, home economist for Schnuck's was assisted in the kitchen by Evelyn Thompson, Opal Davis, Elsie Byrd, Mayne Wagner, Virginia Kessler and Evelyn Hamilton.

An Easter motif was used for the tables decorations arranged with baskets of eggs and spring flowers in rainbow colors.

Serving the luncheon was Millie Sherman, Virgie Settles, Mary Davis and Mary Handelder. Thompson gave the welcoming address followed by the Rev. Vernon Brown offering prayer. Ralph Craycraft served as master of ceremonies and directed the afternoon games. Prizes were awarded by the sponsoring organization and the Sisterhood.

Among the guests present was John McDonald, manager of the Granite City Schnuck's Store. Mrs. Thompson announced the mother and daughter banquet will be held on May 11 at 6 p.m.

CONCRETE CANOE RACE IN FOREST PARK SATURDAY. Washington University will enter "The Agony of Defeat" in this year's annual Concrete Canoe Race at Forest Park. The race will be held at Post-Dispatch Lake at 9 a.m. Saturday, April 21.

Sponsored by the American Society of Civil Engineers, the race is designed to give area engineering students a project that is both challenging and educational.

Washington University's entry will use an old design, but new materials. "It's a lot like the leather canoes the Indians used," said Steve Bresina, a Washington University graduate student in engineering.

"But instead of leather over wood, we're using concrete over steel." Concrete canoe races have become so popular around the country that the idea has been extended to other areas of concrete design. "In the winter, there are concrete ski competitions," he said, "and in the summer, concrete Frisbees."

Three GC girls win in spring pageant

Three Granite City girls were winners at the Spring Princess Pageant at the East Alton Recreation Center on April 18. The contest consisted of modeling, talent, photogenic, most creative Easter bonnet, hi-point and overall points.

Natasha Leigh Gregg, daughter of Joe and Shawnee Gregg, won first place in the photogenic category for the 3 to 5-year old age group. She also was the first runner-up in modeling and took second place in the most creative Easter Bonnet.

Miss Gregg is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Duenning.

Rebecca Lynn Shaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Shaver, won first place in modeling in the 6 to 8-year-old category. She also took first place in the most creative Easter bonnet, overall points and won Hi-Point in her age group.

Miss Shaver placed third in the talent segment of the contest.

Renee Roderick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Roderick, won first place in modeling in the 13-years-old and older age group.

Rhonda Vest of Granite City is the modeling teacher of all three girls.

Literary Club discusses mystery books

Mrs. Verna Stuart entertained the April meeting of the Lesche Literary Club last week, serving a dessert luncheon with an Easter theme to 14 club members.

Ruth Ann Banelis gave the final program of the year entitled "Olmecs, Race of Precursors, The Enigmatic Message of the Mayas, Enigmatic Message of the Mayas, and "Did a Black Hole Hit Siberia." This program was the last in a series dealing with great unsolved mysteries of the world.

During the business meeting, a letter was read from Lois Lester, a member who is moving to Florida. Also during communications, members were invited to the 50th wedding anniversary reception of Mr. and Mrs. George Holtzsch.

The annual President's Day Luncheon will be held May 8 at the Black Swan Restaurant in the new Collinsville Hilton Hotel. At this meeting, the prize winning essays in the high school competition will be read and officers for the coming year will be installed.

Other members attending were: Mary Cochran, Catherine Schnipper, Bess Henely, Lois Holsinger, Burdine Holtzsch, Gerry Jackson, Virginia John, Marie Klein, Mary Miller, Peggy Stevens, Geneva Miller and Ted Uehli.

Pickett-Boyles

The wedding of Miss Taunya Rayleen Boyles and Steven Monroe Pickett, was solemnized on April 18 at the City Temple, Assembly of God Church.

Officiating at the 12:30 p.m. service was the Rev. James Burnett. The assistant pastor, the Rev. Rob Gay presided at the organ and played several nuptials selection.

Immediately following the service a reception was held in the church fellowship hall.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Mary A. Wyde, 1817 Market St., Madison, and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Boyles, 1824 Sken St., Madison. She was escorted to the altar by her uncle, Raymond C. Wyde.

Attending the couple was Barb Wolfe as matron of honor, and Curt Wolfe, best man.

Lighting the candles were Shirley Burnett and Peggy Gay.

The newlywed couple is now residing at 1522 Second St., Madison.

THE SAFEST WAY to be thou partaker of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God. 2 Timothy 1:8

SOME things that appear dangerous are actually much less hazardous than their safer-looking alternatives. Commercial airline travel, for instance, is 30 times safer than transportation by car. It may not seem that way to the person who would rather fight rush hour traffic on the ground than ride a solitary Boeing 747 at 35,000 feet. But out of 5 million scheduled commercial flights in 1982, only one resulted in fatalities. Being carried by tank of metal thrust through the air by huge jet engines is actually safer than being pulled along in an 8-cylinder machine that never leaves the ground.

The same thing is true in our journey through life. Following the Lord may seem perilous. It must have appeared that way to Timothy, who seemed to have his share of white-knuckle takeoffs along the path of discipleship. It also looked too risky to those in Asia who turned away from Paul when he was imprisoned for speaking in behalf of Christ. But in reality the apostle Paul had chosen the safest way to travel through life, and he wanted Timothy to experience that same security. He reminded him to be sensitive to the Spirit's leading. He explained to him that a path that involves suffering for Christ is ultimately safer than all other alternatives. That's why Paul could declare with confidence, "I know whom I have believed and am persuaded that He is able to keep that which I have committed unto Him against that day." (2 Tim. 1:12)

Commit yourself to the Lord no matter what the cost. It's the safest way to live.

Son of the living God! Oh, call us
Once and again to follow Thee:
And give us strength, what'er befall us.
Thy true disciples will be.

Safety is not the absence of danger but the presence of God.
F. HARTLINE

Rev. Jim Spillman Son-Life speaker

Jim Spillman, a preacher whose ministry is characterized by sound Biblical teaching, will be at Son-Life Fellowship, 1203 Vandalla in Collinsville, beginning Thursday, April 26th at 7:30 p.m. Other services featuring Spillman will be held Friday, April 27th at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, April 29th, at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. Rev. Spillman was the associate pastor at Melodyland Christian Center in Anaheim, Calif., prior to beginning his world wide ministry. Besides speaking extensively in the United States, he has ministered in Australia, New Zealand, Mexico and Guatemala as well as many countries in Europe.

Rev. Spillman has been involved in writing and publishing Christian Education programs and materials. He has written for several magazines including Christian Life and has authored several books, and has appeared on several television shows including "700 Club" and "PTL Club."

The guest speaker attended Multnomah School of the Bible in Portland, Ore., and later earned a Bachelor of arts degree in history from Grace College and a Master of Arts degree in history from Pepperdine University. His knowledge and interest in history has led him to Israel on many occasions where he has ministered.

Pastor Dennis Amsden invites the public to attend one or all the meetings.

Thursday, April 26, 1984 — 7:00 P.M.

Augustines Restaurant, 1200 Centerville Ave., Belleville, Ill.

FEATURED SPEAKERS WILL BE:

Reverend Harvey A. Smith

Rev. Smith is an author and international conference speaker.

For several years he worked for a large investment firm aiding those who had financial problems in the act of debt.

As a pastor, God enabled Brother Smith to develop a simple but powerful approach of debt payoff. He has helped many to the path of financial independence.

In fact, Brother Harvey emphatically states that most individuals will see a tremendous difference in their financial situations within just seven or eight weeks, regardless of how much debt they owe or how reduced their income may be, by using his approach to financial budgeting.

Mr. Jeffrey Lesztz

Mr. Herbert A. Morris

NO FEE FOR ATTENDING.

GEOFFREY LUX

Geoffrey Lux named pageant winner

Geoffrey Alexander Lux was awarded a 100 percent health certificate placing him in first place in that category at the St. Louis Baby Pageant, sponsored by the Paralyzed Veterans of America, Gateway Chapter.

He also received a red rosette ribbon for second place in the beauty division for his age five to six months.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey (Alexis) Lux of Madison, the youngster then competed for supreme honors and placed third over the entire pageant of 2,000 children and received the title of Country Supremum Duke for which he was given a four foot trophy.

TRUDY GROOMS

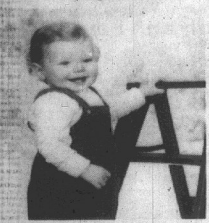

13-month old wins top pageant honors

Trudy Grooms, 13-month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Grooms of Granite City, captured a first place award in the photogenic category at the Spring Princess Pageant held in East Alton.

She also was crowned Baby Spring Princess Beauty winner in the 0-2 age group, and won overall queen for her division and received a queen's robe, banners, crowns, and trophies.

The youngster is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Edrington, Granite City and Mrs. Trudy Grooms, St. Louis.

Her older sister, Christina Grooms, was the guest hostess.

NICHOLAS GAINES

Nicholas Gaines contest winner

Nicholas Ryan Gaines son of Mr. and Mrs. Brian Gaines, Granite City, was awarded a certificate for winning a 100 percent evaluation in the health division of the St. Louis Baby Pageant, sponsored by the Paralyzed Veterans Association.

The event was held at the Marriott Hotel in St. Louis and attracted 2,000 children from the area. He also won a first place in the beauty division and received a certificate and loving cup trophy, and another trophy for third in the overall points in his age class.

Engagements

Reish-Hopkins

Announcement is being made of the betrothal of Miss Rhonda L. Reish and Daniel L. Hopkins, son of Mrs. Melva Hopkins, 2161 Monroe Ave., by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald L. Reish, 2806 Dogwood Drive.

Both young people graduated from Granite City High School South in 1981. Miss Reish is employed at the Reese Medical Arts Pharmacy and will graduate from Belleville Area College in May from the Physical Therapy Assistant Program. The groom elect is working for B&R Truss Co., St. Louis. They plan to be married on Sept. 15 at Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church.

Daniel Hopkins and Rhonda Reish

Snider-Anstead

The engagement of Miss Lesia Snider and Douglas Anstead is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Snider of California, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Harper, 77 Holiday Mobile Home Park.

Parents of the prospective groom, Mr. and Mrs. Howard (Betty) Anstead, reside at 5127 Abington, St. Louis.

A 1979 graduate of Granite City High School North, Miss Snider was an active band member while in high school and also participated in Soccer for Fun. She is now employed as a net settlement coordinator for Master Card International in St. Louis.

Her fiancé works as an automotive laboratory technician for Moog Automotive in St. Louis. He was graduated from Hazelwood East High School in 1978 and from Ranken Technical School in 1981.

Lesia Snider and Douglas Anstead

The engaged couple plan to be married on May 18 at St. Christopher Catholic Church in St. Louis.

Powell-Whitt

Plans for an autumn wedding were disclosed with the engagement announcement of Miss Karlene Rene Powell and Alan Jeffrey Whitt by the bride-to-be's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Troy F. Powell, 3213 Harvard Place. Mr. and Mrs. Joade Whitt, parents of the prospective groom, reside at 66 Deborah Court.

Miss Powell graduated from Granite City High School South in 1980 and is presently a senior student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, where she is majoring in nursing. She is a member of Gamma Sigma Sigma Service Sorority and is employed as a checker at Granite City Shop 'N Save Store.

Her fiancé is a 1980 graduate of Granite City High School North and also is a senior student at SIUE where he is majoring electrical engineering. He is an employee of Shop 'N Save Store in Collinsville. The betrothed couple and their families are completing plans for a Sept. 8 wedding to be solemnized at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

Palmer-Bigham

The engagement of Miss Tami Kathryn Palmer and Thomas William Bigham of Granite City, was announced at a barbecue party hosted, this week, by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steven E. Rains, in their home, 3008 Mockingbird Lane.

Approximately 14 relatives and friends attended the social event.

Miss Palmer also is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Palmer, 3313 Johnson Road. The prospective groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Bigham, Rural Route Two, Collinsville.

Miss Palmer is employed as a clerk-typist at the St. Louis Area Support Center and is a 1980 graduate of Granite City High School North.

Her fiancé works in the Plant Service Department at St. Elizabeth Medical Center and was graduated from Collinsville High School in 1973 and from Ranken Technical Institute in 1976.

They plan to be married on July 7 at Nameoki United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Delevski hosts chapter

Mrs. Martha Delevski, 2270 Clinton Drive, entertained members of Chapter K.L. P.E.O. Sisterhood in her home, last week.

President Mrs. Ruth Ann Bartels, conducted the business meeting. The P.E.O. Educational Fund is a revolving loan fund at 6 percent interest for educational purposes beyond high school. Since it was established in 1907, over 18 million dollars have been loaned to 22,500 women students. Recommendation for loans is made through P.E.O. chapters, Mrs. Bartels explained.

Mary McCarty read from several letters from recipients of this fund who are now in the working force and are repaying their loan.

An evening of cards was enjoyed by the group under the direction of Betty Kea, Martha Delevski, and Lynn Jacobsmeyer. Prizes were won by Hulda Davis, Bonnie Wilkenson, and Mary Mullen.

Refreshments were served to 18 members. The next meeting will be hosted by Mrs. Rita McConnell, it was noted.

Auxiliary holds memorial service

At the regular meeting of the Eagles Auxiliary held at the Eagles Home, 3600 Madison Ave., and conducted by the president, Gladys Freeman, annual memorial services were held for 75 members who died during the years 1958 to 1984. Prayers were offered and a white wreath and white roses were placed on the altar, as candles in a candelabra were extinguished as each deceased member's name was read.

Services were conducted by Gladys Freeman, president; Eileen Rickert, junior past president; Carol Hill, vice president; Vincenz Zerlan, chaplain; and Linda Bone, conductor.

The meeting was opened with the members reciting the pledge of allegiance to the flag led by conductor, Linda Bone, and the prayer given by chaplain, Vincenz Zerlan. Two applications for membership were read and turned over to the investigating committee for approval. Thank you notes were read from state auxiliary president, Betty Rohn, of Quincy, and State Heart and Diabetes Fund Chairman, Eleanor Everingham of Herrin, for the hospitality accorded them on their recent visit to Granite City. Visiting chairman, Ann Kopopka, reported sending get well cards to Shirley Robinson and Francis Pask. It was also noted that Betty Melton is in St. Anthony's Hospital, Alton.

Helen Lipchik, publicity chairman for the auxiliary, was escorted to the altar by Conductor Linda Bone, where she was surprised with a gift from the members for her outstanding efforts the past year in preparing items of meetings to be published in the local newspaper. Mrs. Lipchik is compiling a President's Publicity Book, which will be judged at the state convention in June. Her publicity book for the years 1982-83 received second prize statewide, it was announced.

Reports were given by secretary, Helen Prazier; treasurer, Leona Delaloye, and the trustees.

Attendance prize for the evening went to June Fritz, and the white elephant prize, donated by Sharon Shafer, was won by Florence Hagnauer.

Refreshments were served after the meeting by hostesses Ann Sporic, Mary Horvat and Vivian Dix.

Spring luncheon held

Chapter HT of the PEO Sisterhood held a spring party luncheon at the home of Mrs. Elmer Baker, 3333 Harvard Place. Mrs. Baker was assisted by Mesdames Kurt Merz, E.G. Marshman and G.E. Halyama.

The meeting, presided over by Mrs. Leo Konzen, was followed by games. Prizes of potted daffodils were awarded to Mesdames Eric Robertson, Carl Mathias and Al Stoeber.

The next meeting of the sisterhood will be April 23 at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, with Mrs. Richard Kerch as hostess.

Drusilla Andrews chapter discusses national defense

The Drusilla Andrews chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution discussed a special national defense topic at their April meeting. The meeting was conducted in the Chimney Room of Burn's Cafeteria.

The defense topic was presented by Captain Gerald Hoeslein of the speaker's bureau of Scott Air Force Base. He explained the Triad Defense System employing the use of nuclear powered manned bombers, hardened silo missiles and submarines.

Hoeslein explained the four steps of deterrence as follows: our forces are capable of carrying out a threat; does the enemy know we have this capability?; does the enemy feel we would use this power?; and is our capability as sufficient as we feel it is?

A question and answer session followed the speech.

Also at the meeting, Emma Schoen reported on her visit with charter member, Dorothy Buenger, to present her with a special charter member pin.

Plans are being made to a tea to celebrate the 60th anniversary of the chapter on September 15th.

Christian Women's Fellowship elects

The Christian Women's Fellowship of Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road, held its election of officers at a regular general meeting.

Officers elected included: Helen Stumpe, president; Joyce Bennington, vice-president; Flora Mae Lensing, secretary; Margaret Turner, treasurer; Betty Rush, study chairman; Marge Kacera, worship chairman; Ruth Lelik, reading chairman; Mary Lee Lurton, service chairman; Lena Seltzer and Lynda Leggett, hospitality chairmen; Beth Spengler, reception chairman; Mary Lee Lurton and Dee Yates, meals on wheels chairmen; Beth Spengler, Christian Women's Fellowship representatives, and Doris Edwards, publicity chairman.

The installation of these new officers will be conducted at a June 7 meeting.

Plans were finalized for the Ladies Night Out, under the direction of Chairpersons Linda Irwin, Nancy Connelly and Betty Rush. The date is May 3, at 6:30 p.m. Dinner reservations are $5.50 per person and can be made in advance by contacting Mary Lee Lurton.

Theme for the evening is "Up, Up and Away." Guest entertainer for the evening will be Leonard W. Van Camp, associate professor in the department of music at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

He is director of choral activities at SIUE, where he is conductor of four choral groups, including the SIUE Community Choral Society.

Doris Edwards, CWF president, announced the upcoming schedule for the ladies. Events include an Easter breakfast April 22, leadership development courses May 2, the group's May fellowship on May 4, the CWF Area Assembly May 22, a committee of the group serving the Nameoki Women's Club May 16 and the club's annual Strawberry Festival and Bazaar on June 2.

Beth Spengler introduced three guest speakers for a program entitled "Do My Actions Tell You Who I Am?"

Muriel Pratt, a retired language teacher, spoke on her experiences in teaching students who could not speak or understand English.

Beth Gordon, an aide in special education and social services of handicapped children, spoke on the need to fund such agencies to provide care and why it is urgent.

Ola Jones, president of the Church Women United, spoke about government-provided training programs such as CETA (Comprehensive Education and Training Act) and JPTA (Job Program Training Act).

The program was concluded in a worship led by Mildred Collins and refreshments were served by the Lydia Circle.

Amvets set up pledge of allegiance day

The Americanism Chairman of Amvets Auxiliary 51, Betty Wilkins, announced that the local auxiliary, in conjunction with the national office of Amvets, has designated April 30 as National Pledge of Allegiance Day.

The students at each participating school, with the assistance of the principals and teachers will assemble outdoors and recite the Pledge of Allegiance at exactly 12:30 p.m.

Central Standard Time. Mrs. Wilkins requested that principals interested in having a program at their respective schools contact her at 877-6277 in order to ensure that a representative of Amvets Auxiliary 51 will attend the program.

Prather PTA elects officers

The Prather School PTA elected its officers recently to serve for the 1984-85 school year.

Officers include: Joy Bohnenstiel, president; Lynn Ross, vice-president; Joanne Terrell, recording secretary; Laura Falter, treasurer, and Diane Pulliam, corresponding secretary. They will be installed at the meeting next month.

Also at the meeting, Pam Gindler of the Special Education District in Madison County will be conducting early childhood screening for the entire special education school district. The screenings will be conducted on May 1 and 2, from 1 a.m. to 7 p.m. and May 3 and 4, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at St. John United Church of Christ.

Appointments are needed for the screenings, but there is no charge for the tests.

In other news, a thank you note was received from physical education teachers Leigh Heller and Sharon Shafner. The two thanked the PTA for donating refreshments during the "Jump Rope for Heart" program.

Also a kindergarten teacher requested money so that the kindergarten may join the Reading is Fundamental program.

The Executive Board members were informed that the book "Prepared for Today," a booklet to help latch-key children, now is available. The PTA voted to buy the booklets for the fourth through sixth graders at the school.

Other news included: The PTA voted to send the patrol boys and girls to Six Flags on May 19.

The school carnival will be from 6:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on May 4. The children attending Prather School will each receive five free tickets at the door the evening of the carnival.

Carol Franklin explained the helping hand program.

—The by laws of the Prather School PTA were approved.

—Steve Davis, fifth grade class teacher, won $5 for having the highest percentage of parents at the meeting.

—Any child in need of clothing parents may call the school for an appointment to be given the clothes.

The next PTA meeting will be May 14, at 7 p.m.

Warriors Host CBC, Normal U., Notre Dame

Round Robin Tournament begins this Friday

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — If pre-tournament records are any indication of which team will be favored in this weekend's Annual Round Robin Invitational Baseball Tournament, first-year entry Christian Brothers' College (CBC High School) of St. Louis has to be the top pick to win the 10th annual four-team affair.

CBC Coach Ray Bahr's Cadets are rolling along this rain-deluged season at a near perfect pace, losing only the first game of a double-header with rival DeSmet.

An allboys preparatory high school, CBC was sporting a 7-1 record through Tuesday, beating perennially strong Missouri teams such as Ritenour, St. Louis University as well as DeSmet.

AS IF CBC's record isn't intimidating enough, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat has enough faith in the Cadets' talents to rate them as the fourth best prep team in the St. Louis area.

Although not as highly touted as CBC, other participants — first-year entry Quincy Notre Dame and three-year participant Normal University High and host Granite City — should not be taken lightly, said Warrior Coach Bob Stegmeyer.

"CBC is apparently a pretty good team. Right now, I'd have to say that they're the favorite, the team to beat," Stegmeyer said.

"But Quincy-Notre Dame always has good athletes, and Normal has a good coach in Jim Scott. They're a very respectable ball club."

AFTER assessing the other teams in this year's tournament, Stegmeyer turned his assessment toward his hosting Warriors.

"We've played some good competition so far, and we've learned that we still got a long way to go," Stegmeyer said defending his team's 2-10 record.

"We've got a young, inexperienced ball team that doesn't have a lot of varsity experience. We could have rescheduled a game for today, but I thought this day might be better spent if he practiced instead," he said Tuesday during a lengthy practice.

TUESDAY'S practice was only the fourth Warrior drilling out of doors this season and Wednesday's Gateway East Conference game with Althoff (see related story) was the best weather the Warriors have had to play or practice in this season.

The Warriors can only hope that the favorable weather will continue through Friday as they face Notre Dame in the second game of the tournament at 6:30 p.m. Normal and CBC will square off in the tournament opener at 4 p.m.

NOTRE DAME, which hopes to arrive Friday afternoon in time for batting practice, will enter the tourney at an even 500-4-4.

Under first-year coach Bob Winstead, the Raiders could just as easily be 6-2, Winstead said. Explaining, the Raider coach said his team dropped a double-header to Hannibal, Mo., last week, games the Raider were leading but "gave away."

"We're really better than 4-4, but like many teams we've only been outside to practice four times. We haven't had enough practice time to gel," Winstead said.

THE KEY to the Raiders' success, Winstead said, is its offense. Led by their senior catcher Eric Kuhlman, the Raiders have been hitting well considering the little time they've had outside.

Kuhlman, who bats and throws right, batted over 500 last year and is exceeding 400 this year. Named All-Area Football MVP this year, he's highly recruited by the University of Missouri for both baseball and football.

Supporting Kuhlman at the plate is Rich Gengenbacher, a left-handed senior, who's averaging 350 this season, Winstead said. On the other side of the plate, Gengenbacher finds his defensive position at first base.

A THIRD batsman who Winstead said is an integral part of the Raider offense is junior shortstop Mark Kuhlman, who's also batting 400. Winstead calls Mark Kuhlman "a quick bat and a good glove."

The Notre Dame pitching staff consists of three juniors and a sophomore, who Winstead calls a "solid sophomore."

All right-handers, the Raiders' pitching staff is led by Eric Zanger, now 1-1. Other pitchers include Jim Goerlich, Todd Frie and David Zanger, the super sophomore and cousin of Eric, the Raiders' top hurler.

Goerlich and Frie recently teamed to throw a no-hit shutout against Griggsville, a nearby rival of QND's.

AS FOR the tournament opener against Normal High and CBC, that game might not be as easy for the Cadets as most would like to think, Bahr said Tuesday afternoon.

"To be honest, I'm scared to death of play over there. We've heard what a fine facility there is in Granite City, but beyond that I know nothing about the other teams, and that's scary," Bahr said. "It's easy to be scared of the unknown."

Despite Normal's 2-2-1 record this year and its poor showing (0-3) in last year's tourney, Bahr said the Raiders shouldn't be overlooked.

"There's one thing about baseball — strange things can happen — almost without cause. We're not going to look past anyone," Bahr said.

"We're having a better year than normal, primarily because our pitching's been pretty good," Bahr said. "I feel like we've been fortunate because we've got a good balance of left- and right-handed hitting."

DND's success this year can be directly attributed to its two right-handed pitching aces, senior Steve Roemer and junior Tom Caruso.

While Roemer, 3-1, and Caruso, 4-0, have been cutting short the time the Cadets are on the field, performances like that of shortstop John O'Brien have been making long periods of the Cadets' offensive half of the inning.

A senior, O'Brien has hit safely in 14 of his 28 games at bat this season, which translates into a .538 average.

In addition to O'Brien, the Cadets' Joe Kuster has also been hitting the EDWARDSVILLE — The Granite City Warriors girls' track team proved they are the best in the Gateway East Conference.

The girls capitalized on their opponents' mistakes Wednesday to win the Gateway East Conference Relays at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The girls collected 48 points, compared to 36 points for Edwardsville and 20 points for Althoff.

In the boys' races, Edwardsville finished on top with 49 points, followed by Cahokia with 45 points, Granite City with 43 and Althoff with 10.

THE Edwardsville girls donated to the Granite City cause by making in-fatal mistakes in two races. In the 400-meter relay, a false start by Edwardsville sprinter disqualified the baton across the finish line.

Regardless of the Edwardsville disqualifications, the Granite City girls were triumphant over Edwardsville in three head-to-head running events, finishing first in the 3200-meter and 1600-meter relays and distance medley. Edwardsville, meanwhile, finished first in the 400-meter shuttle hurdles, 800-meter and 200-meter low hurdles relays.

IN THE field events, the distances of three participants from each team were combined to account for team scores. Granite City finished first in the shot put and discus, while Edwardsville offset the victories by taking top honors in the long jump and high jump.

In the boys' competition, Edwardsville and Cahokia battled it out in the short-distance relays while Granite City took claim to the two longer-distance relays.

They helped us by scratching out in a few races. But the object is to get the baton across the finish line.

the team. In the sprint relay, the Tigers finished first but were disqualified when a judge pointed out that one of the Edwardsville runners strayed into the wrong lane.

Edwardsville coach Winston Brown blamed the two errors for shrinking the team's score.

"That really hurt, especially because it happened in two key races that we should have won," said Brown. "Our girls haven't had that type of problem before."

With Edwardsville disqualified, Granite City finished first in both events, adding 10 points to their score. Had Edwardsville not been disqualified and won both races as their coach would have liked, Edwardsville would have finished the meet with 46 points and Granite City with 44.

"They (Edwardsville) helped us by scratching out in a few races," said Granite City head coach Pete Robinson. "But the object is to get Granite City took first place in the 3200-meter relay with a 8:28.9 time, easily defeating second-place Cahokia by nine seconds and third-place Edwardsville by 12 seconds.

The Warriors finished first in the distance medley with a 11:22.83 time, finishing a whopping 23 seconds in front of second-place Edwardsville.

BUT THE Warriors had their troubles in the shorter races, finishing fourth in the sprint relays and third in the 400-meter, 400-meter shuttle hurdles, 800-meter and 1600-meter relays. In their best short-distance performance, Granite City finished second in the 300-meter low hurdles.

But the lack of sprint speed that has been plaguing Robinson and his team all season was offset by the power in the field events.

Granite City finished on top in the high jump, with a 6-foot 10-inch jump from Eric Gravis and 6-foot 6-inch jumps from Scott Cant and Paul Smith for a 19-foot 10-inch team total. Edwardsville was far behind in second with a 16-foot 5-inch total. Cahokia managed 11-foot 10-inches.

THE WARRIORS also finished first in the long jump and second in triple jump, discus and pole vault.

Edwardsville coach Brown was especially proud of his victory because the team was doing without the services of sprinter Gary Glaser. The widely-publicized runner pulled his leg out of shape at the Mineral Area meet March 7, where he finished first in his heat in both the 100- and 200-meter dashes.

"When he finished seventh of eight runners in the finals of the 100-meter dash, we knew something was wrong," said Brown. "We pulled him out of the 200-meter finals and he hasn't run in competition since. Hopefully he'll be back on the track shortly."

THE TIGERS could use the sprinter in the Cougar Relays this Saturday, the first meet scheduled by Edwardsville that will include both high school and college runners. Granite City will participate in the event, which gets under way at 10 a.m.

The girls, meanwhile, will travel to Pattonville, Mo., for an invitational meet Saturday.

The Gateway East Conference Relays were held Wednesday for the fifth and final time of the annual event. The conference will fold at the end of the school year, when Granite City will join the Southwestern Conference.

This Friday, Saturday Top drivers expected at Outlaw show

GRANITE CITY — A meeting of the clan is in store for all the fans that attend the World of Outlaws sprint car race program Friday and Saturday nights, April 20-21 as a number of Indianapolis 500 participants will be joining the Skoal Bandits at Tri-City Speedway.

Sheldon Kinser of Bloomington, Ind., who is also a multi-time USAC sprint car champion, will be battling his cousin Steve, four times World of Outlaws titlist, as well as Joe Saldana of Lincoln, Neb., Ron Shuman of Mesa, Ariz., Rich Vogler of Brownsburg, Ind. and Ken Schrader of Ponton, Mo. All of these drivers have either raced in or attempted to qualify for the "Hoosier Classic."

Also in the field will be a number of line drivers from the Springfield area including Rick and Ronnie Standridge and Tom Scott. A third Standridge brother, Randy, who is the local sprint car champion will have to forego the first World of Outlaws visit to Tri-City Speedway since 1981 because of an operation.

A total of $41,600 has been posted in prize money for the two nights including $6,000 for Saturday's feature winner. Qualifying, heat races, a B winner and an A feature will be run each night.

Pit and spectator gates open at 4 p.m. on Friday and 3 p.m. on Saturday. Qualifying is at 6 p.m. and the first race at 7:30 p.m.

Ticket prices are $12 adults and children 6-12 $5 with no reserved seats. Pit passes will be $8 for up to four people per car and $15 for all others. For more information call 214/638-2200.

The track is located one-half mile south of I-270 in Illinois Highway 303.

Steve Kinser... expected to race

In July, August Graham, SIUE host summer camps

EDWARDSVILLE — The new basketball coach at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Larry Graham, will be conducting a pair of basketball camps at the University this summer.

The first session, scheduled July 22-27, is an individual camp stressing fundamentals, while the second session, to be held July 29-Aug. 3, is a team camp for varsity and junior varsity competition. All boys between the ages of nine and 17 are eligible to participate in either session.

Cost of the camp is $145 for resident campers, which includes housing and three meals per day, or $100 for day campers, who will be provided lunch and dinner. All resident campers will stay in the modern, air-conditioned Tower Lake Apartment complex on the SIUE campus. All instruction is scheduled in the new Sam M. Vadalabene Center for Health, Recreation, and Physical Education, located on the northwest corner of the campus.

In addition to Coach Graham, other instructors at the camp include Chicago Argos High School coach Rick Moss, who will be the director of the camp. He will be assisted by Mt. Paluski High School head coach Ed Butkovich and the head coach at Cahokia High School, Ken McBride.

Several other high school and college coaches and players will also be on hand throughout both weeks to help with instruction.

Registration can be made by mail or in person at the SIUE athletic office, located in the Vadalabene Center. For more information, contact the athletic office at (618) 692-2871.

In Baseball Wednesday Crusaders edge Warriors in pitchers duel, 2-1

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

BELLEVILLE — Wednesday afternoon's Gateway East Conference baseball game between Granite City and Althoff featured two teams with vastly different records, but when the game was over the difference in those teams was much less than indicated by their records.

Althoff, now 6-1 and 3-0 in the GEC, edged the visiting Warriors 2-1 in a hard-fought game under optimum weather conditions. The Warriors, now 2-10 on the season and 0-2 in the GEC, played like an emerging, maturing team.

"Tonight, we got good pitching and our defense did a better job than they have," said Warrior Coach Bob Stegemeier. "It seems as though we always play better when Sammy pitches. He did an outstanding job," Stegemeier said of Warrior hurler Sam Tate.

IN WHAT can only be described as a pitching duel, Tate matched wits and arms with two Crusader hurlers, Dennis Shea and reliever Dan Nester.

In all, Tate allowed seven hits and two runs. The seventh hit, a two-out home run to center field in the sixth inning by sophomore Joe Bauer, turned out to be fatal for the Warriors. Bauer, incidentally, is the nephew of former American League great Hank Bauer who played for the New York Yankees and later coached the Baltimore Orioles.

Crusader pitching yielded three hits. Starter Shea yielded a first-inning single to Warrior catcher Jim Moulden while sophomore Steve Davis and senior Terry Rujawitz each picked up hits off Nester. Davis slapped a one-out double to right field in the fifth inning while Rujawitz picked up a looping single to short left field in the sixth.

NEA probably would have gone the distance for the Crusaders if Tate did for the Warriors if Althoff Coach Al Foppe had not taken him out of the game and then try to re-enter him illegally.

In the fourth inning with one out and runners on first and second, it was Shea's turn to bat. Foppe elected to pinch hit Ted Skrabec for Shea and then re-enter the Crusader hurler in the next inning.

When Foppe announced that Skrabec would pinch hit for Shea, he also announced that Shea would be re-enter the next inning. That double announcement is illegal according to Illinois High School baseball rules.

THE RULE clearly states that any announcement of a re-enter cannot be made simultaneous to the initial change. Instead, it must be made in the beginning of that half of an inning before a pitch is thrown.

Consequently, Shea, who had already pitched to Warrior Pat Cathey, was disqualified from the game for improperly re-entering the contest.

Cathey's ground out to second base, however, because it came before the discovery of the illegal re-entry, stood.

"I think it was an absolute crummy decision to take the guy off the mound because of that," Foppe said. "I know that Bob was right, and I know that's what it says in the rule book, but I think that's sort of nitpicking."

STEGEMEIER, on the other hand, made no bones about it. He was looking for a way — anyway — for his team to win.

"We wanted that kid out of there," Stegemeier said of Shea. "He's a good pitcher and if we can get him out of there (on a technicality) we will."

Although the Warriors managed just three hits, they did manage to get nine players on the basepaths — just one less than the Crusaders who got seven hits.

Of those nine baserunners Granite City stranded eight while Althoff stranded one less, seven.

"We left a number of men on base," Stegemeier said afterwards. "We're still not getting the clutch hitting we need to score those people. If we had we could have won this game 5 or 6-2. But we're getting better. We're making more contact all the time."

AS IMPORTANT as the increased Warrior hitting is to their success, so is its improved fielding. Wednesday the Warriors allowed just two errors, considerable less than the five they have been averaging per game earlier in the season.

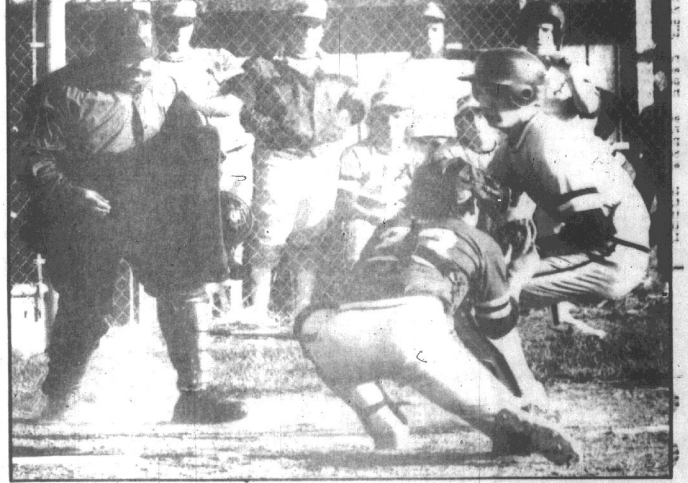

Althoff picked up its first run on one of the Warrior errors. With one out in the fourth inning and runners on second and third, Moulden fired a throw towards second base in an attempt to catch Dale Denzer off the base. The throw, high and to the first-base side of second, eluded second baseman Scott Grote. Consequently, Nester dashed home for the game's first tally.

The Warriors tied the game in the sixth inning when Rujawitz reached on a single, was forced in when Nester walked first baseman Keith Coakley with the bases loaded.

On June 30th Sheridan selected to compete in nationally televised soccer contest

A senior from Granite City High School has been invited to participate in a televised national soccer all-star game featuring the best high school senior soccer players in America.

Matt Sheridan, of 2323 Grand Avenue, is one of 36 soccer players nationwide selected to play in the National High School Soccer All-Star Game, scheduled for 2 p.m., Saturday, June 30, at the U.S. Military Academy, West Point.

Sponsored by the Army College Fund in cooperation with the National Soccer Coaches Association of America (NSCAA), the game will feature an East versus West format and be taped for ESPN cable television airing on August 24, 25.

Sheridan, who plays the sweeper position, is a four-year letterman for Granite City High School. In his senior year, Sheridan was named team captain, All-Tournament at the Illinois State Tournament, Army College Fund MVP, All-State, All-Midwest, Parade Magazine All-

Matt Sheridan

America and NSCAA All-America. Sheridan will be officially recognized for his selection in ceremonies at his school prior to graduation.

The National High School All-Star Game is one element in the Army College Fund Soccer Program, a cooperative effort between the NSCAA and the Army College Fund (ACF). The ACF is a program in which qualified students accumulate funds for college through enlistment in the U.S. Army.

Other elements in the soccer program include the high school Soccer Clinic series, a group of ten national clinics for students and coaches featuring a national-level staff; the Most Valuable Soccer Player Award, a trophy and certificate presented to the top male and female senior soccer players in high schools nationwide; and a series of soccer instructional films available to coaches through local Army recruiting offices.

More than 4,500 coaches and students from 1,800 high schools participated in Army College Fund soccer activities in 1983.

In Baseball Action

Triad whallops Madison hurlers

MADISON — After holding the Triad Knights close for the first three innings, the Madison Trojans dropped a 12-2 decision, lowering their record to 0-5.

Despite the Trojans' fifth straight loss, Madison coach Ron Grader is still optimistic about his team.

"At the beginning of the season I was very optimistic. I'm surprised by the bad start. I think once the weather gets warmer and we get outside more we'll get rid of the jitters and start to play better," said Grader.

IT'S SURE it's a problem all teams are experiencing right now. It's just so wet and there's not enough indoor facilities."

Nathan Young got the loss for the Trojans as he allowed six runs in the first four and one third innings. Fred Smith relieved in the fourth. Walks seemed to be a major problem for the Trojans in the early innings.

"Nathan Young started the game. This was his first game he's ever pitched and he gave up a few walks," said Grader regarding his starting pitcher.

GRADER is also concerned with the number of errors his team committed. Errors combined with a lack of hitting presented major problems for the Trojans.

"We played good for the first few innings then we started making some mental mistakes."

"We couldn't hit today either. He pitched three or four kids. We just couldn't hit the ball," Grader added.

It looked as if the Trojans might be able to stay within reach of the Knights in the early innings.

After a scoreless first inning the Knights scored one in the second and one in the third to pull out in front 2-0.

TRIAD added four more runs in the third and fourth to increase the score to 6-0 before Madison got on the scoreboard.

The Trojans put single runs on the board in the fourth and fifth to bring the score to 6-2.

Although the Knights were unable to put together any big innings, they scattered 12 runs over the six innings that were played to soundly defeat the Trojans.

Frosh split with DeSmet

There was both good and bad news coming from Coach John Modica's freshmen baseball team, Wednesday.

The bad news was the frosh lost to the DeSmet Spartans 13-1 for their first loss of the season at Varsity Field. The good news was the Warriors came back in the second game of the double-header and defeated DeSmet 10-5. The results of the twin bill adjust the Warriors' record this season to 4-1.

In the first game, Warrior John Narp was tagged for the loss while Scott Levault, who relieved Todd Hinterser midway through the contest, picked up the win in the second game for the Warriors.

"I played two different ball teams tonight," Modica said of his own team. The Warrior coach said in an attempt to give everyone a chance to play, he uses the two-team format on double-headers.

"We're a decent, very respectable ball club," Modica said. "I've got a nice bunch of kids who enjoy playing baseball, although we don't have a lot of depth in the pitching department."

Modica's offense, however, is making up for what its pitching corps are lacking. Through three games, its "A" team has scored 34 runs for more than 11 runs a game.

Tuesday afternoon in Wood River, the frosh made good on that average as they defeated the Oilers 11-8. Monday the frosh traveled to Althoff for a 4 p.m. game.

Spencer gets second victory

The Monmouth College women's softball team swept two games from Illinois Wesleyan University last Tuesday. The Lady Scots took the opener 11-1 and the nightcap 7-1.

The Scots came out blazing in the first matchup. The crimson and white erupted for seven first-inning runs. Senior Karen Friedrich, Pekin, and junior Mary Day, Delavan, belted homers and junior Julie Mears, Lewistown, smacked a double enroute to the win. Day led the Scots with three RBIs. Junior Ann Jamieson, Moline, also had a good day at the plate going three-for-four with two RBIs.

Junior Karen Spencer, Granite City, picked up the win for the Scots. Spencer walked two and struck out two in recording her second win against two losses.

The Scots continued their winning way in the second contest. Day had little trouble in picking up her first win of the year. Day struck out three and walked only one.

Friedrich again had the big stick for the Scots, smacking her second home run of the day and adding a pair of doubles.

The Scots scored single runs in the first and second innings and tacked on four insurance runs in the third inning.

The Scots boost their record to 3-4 on the year. They will be home Wednesday to face Knox College at 3:30 p.m.

Softball tourney registration

A Granite City slow-pitch softball team will sponsor a 12-team tournament May 4-6 at Madison's Third and McCambridge Streets diamond.

The fee for the tourney is $75 per team with prize money being awarded to the first three-place teams.

Team managers wishing to register their teams should contact either Kenny Prahma at 876-3365 or Chris Louis at 452-5186.

Sophomores whip Althoff

Granite City High School's sophomore baseball team picked up its third win of the season Wednesday night, a 10-3 decision over Belleville Althoff.

Warrior hurler Eric Gray picked up his second win of the season after Coach Greg Patton's charges while Tim Stanton pitched one inning of relief and picked up the save.

Four Warriors, Fred Becker, Todd Isom, Dennis Gaudreault and Bill Moore — turned in fine offensive performances as well. Becker, a center fielder, was 3-for-3 with three RBIs and three stolen bases.

Isom, the Warriors' right fielder, was 4-for-4 with two doubles, two singles and three RBIs. Gaudreault was 3-for-4 with a double and three RBIs and Moore was 2-for-3 with one.

The sophomore Warriors are off this weekend during the Round Robin Tournament and see action again on Monday when they are paired with the Crusaders once again.

Monday's game, at Wilson Park diamond one, begins at 4 p.m.

Dal Maxvill Day in GC will be August 17

"...I'm doing just what I've always wanted to do, and coming back here makes it especially nice. The fans here are the best in the world. They're gracious enough to forget the 0-4 games and remember only the good times."

— Dal Maxvill
in 1983

Granite Cityans will get the chance this summer to welcome home one of their favorite sons, Dal Maxvill.

Maxvill, the former St. Louis Baseball Cardinals great now coaching with the Atlanta Braves, will make two business trips to St. Louis this summer. The first Cardinals-Braves home series is May 15-17 and the second is August 17-19. Part of that second trip — specifically Aug. 17 — has already been slated by the Cardinal organization as Granite City Community Night at the Ball Park.

Last year during Granite City Community Night at the Ball Park, the Redbirds' Joe Cunningham, director of group promotions, suggested that the 1984 Granite City Community Night be during a Cardinals-Braves game so both the Cardinals and Granite Cityans could honor Maxvill.

Granite City Community Night Chairman Mark Goldenberg wanted to take it one step further. In addition to the festivities at Busch Stadium, Goldenberg wants to have a similar event in Granite City prior to the Cardinals game. Perhaps something festive in Wilson Park or elsewhere in Granite City.

As one of the co-chairmen in the event, Goldenberg asked me to contact Maxvill and ask if he could arrange such an event about noon on Aug. 17, prior to the Cardinals' game.

Catching up a Major League baseball coach during the season is something which I do not recommend. Last week, the Braves followed the Cardinals on their west coast trip — Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco.

Finally, the most obvious solution. Call his wife, Diane, in Florissant, leave a message for Dal to contact me. Everything comes to those who wait.

Four days later, I got a long distance telephone call from Cincinnati. It was Dal.

"Diane told me about the Granite City Night at the

Sports on the Run

By Al Gerstenecker

Ball Park." Maxvill said. "It sounds great and I'd be honored to come to Granite City for something. It'll be nice to get over there again."

Maxvill's only request was that the affair conclude by 2 p.m. so he can get to the stadium by 3 p.m., in time to pitch for batting practice.

Although tickets are not yet available, Goldenberg said his office at the Financial Planning Centre at 3701 Nameoki Road will begin accepting ticket reservations immediately.

When tickets are made available in late June, they may be purchased at either the Financial Planning Clinic, the Press-Record Sports Desk or at various grocery food stores in Granite City yet to be determined.

More on this later.

On yet another baseball note, Granite City High School baseball coach Bob Stegemeier has compiled a bit of information which some of avid baseball fans may be interested in.

Stegemeier collected both batting and pitching information of Granite City High School baseball teams (North and South) during the last 10 years and these were his findings.

Chumming for catfish: Another way

By MIKE BRIGGS
for the Press-Record

When water conditions are murky, often caused by high water levels, bass fishing is generally poor. However, this can be a perfect time to catch one of the best eating fish in the lake. I am referring to the catfish.

I have fished several private ponds. Some were ponds of six to eight acres, and others only one or two acres. One thing I have noticed, regardless of lake size, most all have had a healthy population of catfish.

Over the years I have come across several methods of luring old "Mr. Whiskers" to the frying pan. One of my favorite methods, chumming, I discovered by accident while fishing for bluegill on a friends small pond. My friend would feed the bluegill dry dogfood, which would send them into a feeding frenzy. I would bait up with a cricket and catch the feeding bluegill, one after another.

Then my cork disappeared, and my line took off. I really had a fight on my hands. When I finally landed the fish it was a three and a half pound catfish. The next few hours I caught all the catfish I cared to clean. The bluegill were feeding on the small pieces of dogfood, while the catfish preferred the larger chunks.

One key thing to remember while chumming for cats is to keep your baited hook in the same area as the chum. If you use a floating chum like dogfood, fish two or three feet below the surface. If you prefer using a sinking chum such as cut shad, fish on the bottom.

It will also help if you know what water depth the cats are feeding in. If the weather is hot they may be up near the surface looking for a preferred oxygen mixture.

They may also be up if there had been a recent insect hatch, such as the Mayfly. If you are fishing where there is plenty of oxygen and cool water, you are likely to find most catfish rubbing their bellies against the bottom.

Jump Rope For Heart

Coolidge athletes have a lot of heart

Students at Coolidge Junior High School proved how much heart they have, raising an impressive $4,000 in a Jump Rope for Heart held March 13 to benefit the American Heart Association.

Despite holding the event on a superstitious Friday the 13th, 126 participants and eight student workers proved that Lady Luck was working in their favor. Students organized a team of six and jumped rope for three hours after pledges.

CHARLES Painter won top individual honors with donations amounting to $204.60, being awarded with a trophy and warm-up suit. Other noteworthy individuals were Marcee Williams with $151.40, Marsha Yates with $115.75 and Greg Modrusic with $108. Michelle Jeffries, Julie Gabriel and Laura Roussey collected amounts within the $80 range.

The team that raised the most amount — $374.60 — consisted of Marcee Williams as captain, Sonja Buchanan, Shannon Gauen, Michelle Jeffries, Julie Sparks and Lori Swigert. The second-place team was headed by captain Marsha Yates with members Beth Earney, Mindy Knowland, Terri Mefford, Susan Murphy and Michelle Ward.

THE PHYSICAL education department coordinated the event, while the faculty and staff at Coolidge also provided encouragement for the youngsters by donating cookies and soda.

Principal Mike Sikora praised the students for their performance.

"How nice it is to know and work with some really important students in Granite City on such an important humanitarian project," said Sikora. "If one wants to get something done, ask our kids, get them behind the project, give them a goal and turn them loose."

Tournament

ball well. A left-handed batter, Kuster enters the tournament with a .407 average.

NORMAL University High, Class A runner up in the 1979 state tournament and a state qualifier in 1980, is looking for a stronger showing this year than its winless record in the tournament last year.

"We've got some young kids, but we feel like we can win down there this year," Scott said.

With victories over Olympia and Mahomet-Seymour, the Pioneers are hoping that its exclusively right-handed staff will lift them towards the tournament title.

The Pioneers' top hurler this year is senior Bill Kauth who garners a 1-1 record. Normal's second hurler is Adam Danenberger who, in addition to pitching, is hitting .400.

KRIS West, a senior right-hander, is a third Pioneer hurler, although he has yet to record a win or loss.

Offensively, the Pioneers are "coming around," Scott said. In addition to Danenberger, the Pioneers' big bat, first baseman Todd Wilcox, outfielder Paul Heller and second-year catcher Jeff Cole are hitting .300.

The Warriors, now 2-10 after Wednesday's Gateway East Conference loss to Altoft, are gearing up for the tourney.

"As soon as this is over, we can begin thinking about the rest of the season," Stegemeier said prior to Wednesday's game with the Crusaders. "Right now the tournament's most important."

STEGEMEIER's preparation for the tourney includes longer practices this week and also more pitching. In addition to the normal varsity pitching corps, the Warriors will have the services of sophomores Mark Bowen, Tim Stanton and Eric Gray this weekend.

Right-hander Dan Whitsell, who's recovering from a pulled muscle in his lower back, is slated to start the tournament against Notre Dame.

Offensively, the Warriors are perhaps the weakest team in the tourney. Thus far the only team in the tourney without a .400 hitter, the Warriors are led by Jim Moulden and Sam Tate averages computed around .300 and Jerry Booker who's batting .250.

"WE REALLY don't have anyone who's consistently hitting the ball," Stegemeier said. "Right now, our guys are still taking too many good pitches."

Although a Granite City team was last year's tourney champion, it's impossible for that team repeat. And although Granite City North will not be defending the title it had for two years, Stegemeier, the Steelers' coach last year, will be going for his third consecutive coach's title and his fifth tournament title.

Prior to last year's championship, Stegemeier led Steeler baseball teams to titles in 1982, 1980 and 1979. For Stegemeier, this is also the first year he is the hosting coach of the tournament. In previous years, the tourney has been hosted by Granite City High School South.

Openings in women's MAC softball league

The Mitchell Athletic Club is seeking teams to fill openings in its women's 27 and older slow-pitch league. According to MAC spokesman Harry Breckner, the club currently has as many as four openings in the league which plays on Saturdays and Wednesdays.

Team managers wishing to register for the league should call Breckner at 797-0567 for further information.

St. E hosts Heart and Sole Run May 19th

St. Elizabeth Medical Center will sponsor a one- and five-mile fun run on Saturday, May 19 to benefit the Coronary Care Unit at the facility.

Entitled the Heart and Sole Runs, both runs will begin and end at the medical center. The five-mile run will begin at 9 a.m. followed by the one-mile fun run which will begin at 9:15 a.m.

The entry fee for both runs is $5 per person and the first 250 entrants will receive surgical scrub shirts. All finishers in both runs will receive certificates.

Persons wishing to register may do so in either the public relations department or the social work department of the medical center. Checks should be made payable to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Persons may also register the day of the runs in the medical center lobby between 7 and 8:30 a.m.

SFF begins new sessions

Soccer For Fun will be running an eight-week session for May and June. Fee's will be $250 for adult teams and $230 for the junior teams. There will be openings for men's, women's, co-ed and children's teams. The sessions will start the first week of May.

Soccer For Fun will also be taking individual sign-ups for a men's 35 and over league, which will play on Sunday afternoons. Soccer For Fun still has openings for the 21 and over women's clinic on Monday mornings and the Co-Ed Industrial League on Friday afternoons.

For further information on any of these leagues persons should call 797-0619.

Again this summer Coach Bob Quaker of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will conduct a clinic for boys and girls the week of July 9-13, from 10 a.m. to noon. Applications for the clinic are now being taken.

MAC baseball, softball signup

The Mitchell Athletic Club will register boys and girls next Monday and Tuesday, April 23 and 24, wishing to play in its summer baseball and softball leagues. This will be the final registration before teams begin summer play.

According to MAC spokesman Myron Merz, all youths in the Quad-Cities area ages six to 15 may register from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Mitchell Elementary School. To be eligible to play, youths must be seven years old by Dec. 31, 1984.

The registration fee is $15 and an additional $10 for each family member after the first.

The organization is also looking for umpires for this summer's league. Persons wishing further information about registration or umpiring should call Merz at 931-1218.

Upcoming events

Easter

THE ANNUAL EASTER Egg Hunt sponsored by the Granite City Park District will take place from 9 to 11 a.m. Saturday, April 21, at the Wilson Park Ice Rink. The Easter Bunny will be making a guest appearance at the event. The hunt will be divided into three age categories: first graders, 9 a.m.; kindergarten, 9:45 a.m.; and preschoolers, 10:30 a.m. Children must bring their own containers to hold the eggs they find. Participants must be park district residents to win prizes. Approximately 2,500 colored, plastic eggs will be hidden in straw for the hunt.

THE PONTON BEACH Lions Club will sponsor an Easter egg hunt at noon Saturday, April 21, for residents of Ponton Beach. The event will be conducted on the grounds of Central Baptist Church, Highway 111 and 11th St. All children must be accompanied by an adult and must bring containers to collect the eggs. Prizes will be awarded in four age groups: 1 to 2, 3 to 4, 5 to 6, and 7 to 8. In case of inclement weather, the hunt will be conducted at the Ponton Beach Senior Citizens Center, across from the church.

THE SHROUD OF TURIN photographic exhibit will close the day after Easter at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows in Belleville, located at 9500 W. Route 15, Belleville. Admission is free and open to the public from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily. The Holy Shroud of Turin is said to be the cloth that was wrapped around Jesus Christ after his crucifixion. The exhibit features more than 100 photographs of the cloth.

A FREE LUNCH will be served at 1 p.m. Saturday, April 21, for anyone who will be alone for the Easter holidays. The event is being sponsored by the Salt and Light Group from Second Baptist Church, 2100 Illinois Ave., where the lunch will be offered. Those wishing to make reservations, arrange transportation or gain further information may call 876-0950, 931-1757 or 877-3033.

CHURCH SERVICES to be conducted in observance of Holy Week are listed under "Easter Services" elsewhere in this issue of the Granite City Press-Record.

Dinners

A FISH FRY will be hosted from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Friday, April 20, by the 4th Degree Assembly of the Knights of Columbus at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 21st Street and Edison Avenue. The dinner will feature cod, macaroni and cheese, slaw, bread, dessert and coffee. The dinner is $3.75 for adults, $2 for children and $2.50 for sandwiches. Carryouts will be available.

JACK SALMON and cod will be served from 4:30 to 7 p.m. Friday, April 20, at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church, Ponton and Johnson roads. Adult servings will be $3, children's servings will be $2. Sandwiches will be $1.75. Carryouts will be available.

Older residents

THE PONTON BEACH and Nameoki Township Senior Citizens group has changed its regular hours to 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. Bingo for members only is conducted from 12:30 to 3 p.m. every Wednesday. A potluck dinner for members will be conducted at 4 p.m. on April 21. Those attending should bring a covered dish. Members interested in joining a pinocle card club may call Joy at 797-6971.

Youth-school

A BIKE-A-THON to benefit the American Diabetes Association, St. Louis Affiliate, will award several prizes, including a DisneyWorld vacation, to bicycle riders who raise the most money. Entry forms are now available at all McDonald's restaurants or by calling 1-314-968-3196. Riders raise money by signing up sponsors willing to pay any specific amount for each mile the participants bike. In Illinois, Bike-A-Thon routes will be in Alton, Highland and Belleville on May 5.

THE DEADLINE is Monday, April 23, for Granite City High School seniors to apply for more than 20 scholarships worth $700 each being offered by the Granite City Scholarship Foundation. Applications should be picked up immediately at the high school counselor's office. The completed forms must then be mailed to: Robert Maxwell, Personnel Department, Granite City Steel, 20th and State streets. Monday also is the deadline to apply for two scholarships being offered by the American Federation of Teachers, Local 743. Those and other scholarship forms are available at the high school.

Workshops

ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS offered to low-income individuals by the state will be the subject of a workshop from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday, April 19, at the American Red Cross Building (former St. Joseph Catholic School), 21st Street and Edison Avenue. Jim Law of the Illinois Department of Public Aid and the guest speaker will be in attendance. The session is being offered free through the Tri-City Area United Way AFL-CIO Community Services' union counselor office. All Quad-City area residents, union representatives and union members are being invited to attend. Those wishing further information may contact George Cook at 877-6780.

BASIC MOTORCYCLE Riding Techniques will be taught in a course 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, April 23 to 27. The workshop is free. Participants must be at least 16 years old and have a valid driver's license or learner's permit. Those under 18 need parental permission to enroll. Those wishing to register may call Conferences and Institutes, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, at 1-692-2660.

Talk and support

Natasha Gregg selected as contestant

Natasha L. Gregg, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gregg, of Granite City, has been selected as a contestant in the 1984 South Illinois National Little Miss Pageant.

The event will be held at the Executive Inn on Saturday, May 5, in Belleville, Ill.

The winner of the pageant will receive a cash award, portrait, crown, banner, trophy, assortment of gifts from Tinkerbell Good-

Grooming and her sponsorship paid to compete in the 1984 Illinois National Little Miss Pageant.

Contestants are four to seven years old and will be judged on poise, personality, judges' interview and appearance.

Miss Gregg is being sponsored by G and G Car Wash, Edray Foods Inc., Mark's Fish, Carolyn Burns, Gregg Photography and Riskovsky Automobile.

MESD adopts tax levy

Members of the Metro East Sanitary District (MESD) adopted a tax levy for $2,071,447 for 1984, at a public hearing yesterday morning.

According to Walter "Shang" Greathouse, president of MESD, the current tax rate of 32 cents for every $100 of assessed property valuation will remain the same, despite the fact that the levy involves an increase over last year.

The levy proposes a 32.38 percent increase from $1.5 million to $2 million. But instead of asking for a tax increase, the needed additional income would be achieved through increased assessed valuation from the district.

The district is not expecting to need an increase but it must give advanced notice in order to collect the higher levy if the value goes up.

Greathouse said that if the district is not able to get additional funds through the increased assessed valuation, the district will "do without things" before it would raise property taxes.

Board members at the meeting included: Greathouse, Bob Bergman, Russell Robinson and David Bergfield. Joe Slack was not present.

4 committeemen's losses by margins of 24 to 57

Of nine Quad-City area precinct committeemen who were opposed for reelection to their political party offices in voting this spring, five won and four were defeated.

The margins by which incumbents lost varied from 24 to 57 votes.

Madison Mayor Mike Sasak, 1423 Fifth St., Democratic committeeman of Madison Township Precinct Six, was re-elected as committeeman, 204-134 over Frank H. Marshall, 1433 Fifth St., Madison.

Nameoki Township Highway Commissioner Frank G. Mehele, Rural Route One, lost out as Democratic committeeman of Nameoki Precinct Seven. He received 103 votes to 158 for Charles E. Luehmman, 452 Edwardsville Road.

Hollis Donaldson, 1603 Maple St., was retained as Democratic committeeman in Granite City 10, winning 102 to 90 over Steve G. Ortiz, 1744 Maple.

The Democratic primary also pitted together, in Granite City Five, Committeeman Edward G. Asaborian, 2117 Grand Ave., and Joseph D. Parente Jr., 1510 Twenty-third St. Parente won, 63-29.

There was a three-way race in Granite City Seven, between Democratic Committeeman Beverly Schutzenhofer, 2201 Delmar Ave., gained reelection easily with 121 votes to nine for Claude W. Ward, 2208 Cleveland Blvd., and 17 for Paul M. Perdue, 2205 Cleveland.

Another three-candidate Democratic primary clash, in Nameoki Township Precinct 11, saw Committeeman Sylvia G. Theis, 2300 Arnold Drive, garner 90 to 46 for Carl Pocht, 4337 Maryville Road, and Stephen Isenberg, 2179 Northland Drive, was elected with 147 votes.

Nameoki Four Democratic Committeeman James F. Counts, 3200 Harvard St., State Park Place, was re-elected by 101-122 over William Boothman, 3208 Fairmont Ave., State Park Place.

Chouteau Township Three Democratic Committeemen, Dorey T. Luebert, 111 W. Fourth St., Hartford, won 210-180, defeating Charles A. Hendricks, 115 Joan St., Hartford. Democratic Chouteau Precinct Seven Committeeman Barbara Overton, 807 Ohio Ave., South Roxana, was defeated, receiving 72 votes to 96 for Claude W. Ward, 2208 Johnson, 1209 Main St., South Roxana.

Jerome Juda did not seek reelection as GC 24 Democratic committeeman. In a close two-way race between Walter "Shang" Greathouse Jr., 2133 Waterman Ave., and Monroe Mark Reynolds, 2151 Woodlawn Ave., Reynolds won 88-76.

Three Democratic committeemen in Nameoki Township retired and were succeeded by new candidates.

Those bowing out were John Soles in Precinct Two, Otis O'Brian in 10 and Carl Maclean in 12. Replacing them were Charles E. Reed, 2028 Beckwith St., Madison, with 153 votes in Nameoki 10; and Louis Zozoff Jr., 89 Cambridge Drive, with 78 votes in Nameoki 12.

Forty-nine incumbent local party committeemen were unopposed for reelection in 1984.

Granite City Republicans Dale G. Hyle (Precinct 12), 2627 E. 24th St., receiving 14 votes; Harold Stallings (36), 3008 Graves, 37 votes; and Delton R. Groothuis (31), 2599 Spalding Ave., 51 votes.

Chouteau Democrats Albert E. Dwyer (Precinct Two), 307 Clark Ave., South Roxana, 147 votes; Joseph D. Stefanoff (Four), Rural Route Two, 143 votes; Christine Wallace (Five), 128 Kinder Lane, Mitchell, 104 votes; and Elaine J. Estes (Six), 5445 Maryville Road, 124 votes.

Nameoki Democrats Robert E. Vincent (Precinct One), 25 Victoria Drive, 107 votes; Joseph Garcia (Three), 2274 Miracle Ave., 158; Helen M. Hawkins (Five), 2600 Angela Drive, 140 votes; Jerry L. Adams (Six), 2573 Buenger Blvd., 97; Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry A. Briggs (Eight), 4263 Lake Drive, 98; and Donald C. Rea (Nine), 4237 Marigold Drive, 82 votes.

Venice Township Democrats Valeta Bauder (Precinct One), 708 Third St., Venice, 175 votes; Doris J. Baker (Two), 1329 Robin St., Venice, 216; Don Garrett (Five), 401 W. 2nd St., Madison, 145; Hilbert Hoekstra (Seven), 1700 Second St., Madison, 193; Andrew F. Economy (Eight), 838 Alton Ave., Madison, 238; former Madison County Democratic Chairman Christ Casol (Nine), 1219 Madison Ave., Madison, 220 votes; and James M. Riddle (Venice 11), 417 Weaver St., Venice, 124.

Granite City Democrats Frank J. Fuzessery (One), 1430 Madison Ave., 62 votes; Agnes J. Elks offer bingo to help Statue of Liberty

Elks Lodge 1063 is offering a fun way for Quad-City area residents to aid the Statue of Liberty while enjoying a favorite pastime, bingo.

The Lodge is sponsoring a special Monday night bingo this Monday, starting at 7 p.m., and all proceeds will be given to The Statue of Liberty/Ellis Island Foundation, Inc., to help restore the statue which is the symbol of America and the Ellis Island complex, through which literally millions of immigrants passed on their way to the dream of a better life in America's "melting pot."

The Elks are offering a 50/50 Earlybird game, a progressive $500 jackpot, and a guaranteed $500 cover-all Monday night at the Nameoki Bingo Center in Nameoki Village Shopping Center.

The games are a part of the Elks' national drive to raise $1 million for the statue's renovation.

Lee A. Jaccia, chairman of Chrysler Corporation, is chairing the national drive to raise $230 million to help refurbish the century-old Statue of Liberty. Planned are a new torch, replacement of rusting and corroding parts and possible installation of an elevator. The interior support system is to be replaced one bar at a time and a air flow through the statue is to be improved to make it more comfortable for visitors.

The Elks' special Monday night bingo is in addition to the regular lodge bingo sessions each Monday night. "We hope everyone will come out Monday night to have some fun and to help in the worthwhile project to save the Statue of Liberty, our nation's symbol of freedom," an Elks spokesman concluded.

$50 PINES IN CURFEW CASE

Robert Pospischel, 17, of 1827 Collinsville Ave., Madison, Vanessa K. Wallace, 17, of 1721 Sycamore St., and a 14-year-old Madison girl, seen walking at Niedringhaus Avenue and Cleveland Blvd. in the early hours of Monday, were charged with violating the curfew ordinance. The first two named were fined $50 each and the juvenile girl was released to a parent on notice to appear for a hearing.

$302 BAIL IN 1983 CASE

A 1983 Collinsville warrant alleging failure to appear in a speeding case was served on Howard E. Kirby Jr., 30 Collinsville, last week at the Granite City police station. He was freed on $302 bail.

JOB TRAINING is the goal of the new Job Training Partnership program, using federal funds to help train the unemployed and place them in successful private-sector occupations. The program is kicked off in Madison and Bond counties by Tony Sarti, center, plant manager of Shasta Illinois in Madison, during a luncheon for business leaders at the Collinsville Hilton. Flanking Sarti are Timothy Carney of Granite City, left, who recently completed electronics technician training through the program and now is employed, and John A. Fruit, chairman of the Madison-Bond County Private Industry Council, who announced the details of the Job Training Partnership for the two counties. More than 800 persons are expected to be served in the first nine months of the program through July 1. Interested persons may contact the Madison County Employment and Training Department at 1-692-6200, extension 445.

Doctor directs computer course

ARREST AFTER COLLISION

Tammy Hendrickson, 23, of the 3900 block of Kirkpatrick Homes was ticketed for leaving a collision scene last week in the 1800 block of State Street. There was damage to the right front of her northbound auto and the left rear of the parked car of Charles Miles, 2614 Grand Ave.

DUI is alleged Pontoon Beach has arrested and charged David Catron, 26, of 3801 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, with driving under the influence of an intoxicating substance.

Early Monday, at 1:30 a.m., Pontoon Beach police officer Mike Crouch, while westbound on Pontoon Road, observed Catron's vehicle approaching his vehicle from the opposite direction in the same lane. After turning around, Crouch followed Catron, as he turned south on Lake Drive, off Pontoon Road. Catron was taken to the Pontoon Beach Police Department where he was administered a breathalyzer test. He also was charged with operating a vehicle without a driver's license.

Catron posted $302 cash bail and was released later that morning.
